Mr. Bok, able, winning young American, born in Holland, says this nation ought to be in the League of Nations and finances his opinion liberally, which is his right. He accepts the world court as a desirable first step toward the league.

Another able American, born here, named George Washington, thought this country ought to keep out of European entanglements. He fought his way through one entanglement and did not want any more.

But Washington is dead, not clearly remembered in some quarters. Mr. Bok is alive, with money to spend. You remember about the "live dog and dead lion?" You will learn from this administration what it thinks of a dead Washington as compared with a live Bok.

Two babies were born in Chicago taxicabs yesterday. The former emperor of Germany was almost born in a stage coach, while his mother, daughter of Queen Victoria, was traveling. A village doctor, frightened by the announcement that he must be careful of the heir to the Prussian throne, lost his head, pulled on the unborn baby's arm, causing a deformity still existing.

That story was told this writer by the great French doctor, Brunsequard, who went to Windsor Castle, at Queen Victoria's command, to see the child's deformed arm, some time later.

Brunsequard added that any one doctor might well have cured the deformity, but 50 doctors were too many for the poor child.

Later you will read of children born "in flight, five miles up, between Seattle and San Diego," and that flying machine, landing, will be rechristened "Genuine Stork."

President F. Edson White of Armour & Co., expects to cut $10,000,000 more off the cost of distribution and other overhead this year. If he succeeds, that will be $29,000,000 similarly cut off in three years.

Combinations make savings possible. The public should have brains enough to encourage big combinations, and keep some of the savings for itself.

There is a howl against a proposed combination of bakers. But in one city each shop selling bread is visited and solicited by from 10 to 15 wholesale bakers' wagons every day.

Who pays for those wagons and drivers?

The families that eat the bread.

The "garter bouquet" of real flowers is announced in Philadelphia, forget me-nots, presumably worn just below the knee. Women spent centuries hiding their legs even with dresses sweeping microbes from the ground.

Now they exhaust ingenuity calling attention to their legs, pink stocking, strange garters, slippers that look like a set of gold pony harness, no stockings, sometimes, high tide skirts.

It is puzzling but you may be sure that back of it all usefulness and wisdom are at work. Man's dull dress

President's Uncle, Fiddler, 80, Gives Boston Once-over

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—John J. Wilder, the president's uncle, today looked over a city for the first time in his 80 years of life.

"Uncle John" came down from his Plymouth, Vt., farm with his son-in-law, Carl E. Herrick, postmaster at Brownsville, Vt., to fill an engagement to play his fiddle at a local theater.

Astonishment was written on the face of "Uncle John" as he saw at first hand the things he had often read about.

A rehearsal, a visit to the governor and a visit to the mayor were in "Uncle John's" schedule for the day.

The president's uncle, who had his 100-year-old fiddle with him, said he wanted to meet "Mellie" Dunham, champion fiddler of Maine. Like Dunham, Wilder has been invited to play for Henry Ford, but he thinks Detroit is too far off.

KIWANIS CLUB OFFICERS FOR YEAR QUALIFY

Dr. Lewis and Harry Hoffman Lauded at Dinner Meeting.

WORK IS REVIEWED

Rev. R. W. Ustick, Wellsville, Makes Address.

Officers, who will be at the helm of the Kiwanis club during 1926, were installed at a dinner meeting in the Larkins annex, Market street, at 6:15 o'clock last evening.

Rev. Robert W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Wellsville, and lieutenant-governor of the sixth district of Ohio Kiwanis, was the speaker. He complimented the club on the choice of officers.

"Your new president," said the speaker in referring to C. C. Cline, "reminds me of President Coolidge. He talks but little but he is a hard worker and accomplishes much.

"I appreciate the responsibility of serving this district as lieutenant governor. We have a programm before this club in Ohio during 1926 which, if we live up to it, will make us most potent factor in the state. We have harnessed ourselves to the ideals which keep us marching on."

Dr. Lewis Retires.

Dr. George E. Lewis, retiring president, introduced Attorney Walter B. Hill, a past president, who acted as chairman. The chorus singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Clair Chambers as pianist. Prof. Laughlin rendered two vocal solos with his son, Robert Laughlin, as accompanist.

Attorney Hill presented the past president's button to Dr. Lewis.

"This classes me as a 'has-been,'" said the Chester physician. "A has-been' is usually regarded as reproach-

Painted, Powdered and Bobbed Mothers Scored By Evangelist

Sock-darning and Bread-making Women Praised by Rev Forman Lincicome at Oakland Church.

"I would not give one of those good old-fashioned, sock-darning, bread-making mothers for two carloads of the present day painted, powdered, bobbed-haired, short-sleeved, short-skirted, show-gadding, novel-reading, round-dancing sissies that can't turn a flapjack without spilling the batter all over the kitchen."

In these words, Evangelist Forman Lincicome of Gary, Ind., scored "modern mothers' in his sermon on "The Model Young Man" at the Oakland Free Methodist church last evening. Present day fathers came in for an equal share of censure from the evangelist.

"Some children have good mothers but very poor fathers,' he said. "God pity the mother who cannot say to her son, 'Son be like your father.' It would break my heart if the mother of our boys would have to go out of her own home to find a model for them.

Motorist Finds Baby in Basket Placed in Car

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8. — A three weeks' old blue-eyed baby boy was recovering from cold and exposure in St. Ann's hospital today. Michael Donnelly found a basket covered with brown paper in his automobile. He thought some one at his house party was playing a joke on him so he took the basket inside. The basket, after a time, became noisy.

Police have no clues as to the baby's identification as there were no marks on the child's clothing. He was wrapped in an old bath robe.

Wealthy Italian Grocer's Home is Damaged by Blast

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Police today rounded up all suspicious persons for questioning in connection with the bombing of the home of Dominick Trozzo, wealthy Italian grocer.

Authorities believe the wrecking of Trozzo's three-story residence by a bomb, which endangered the lives of seven persons in the house and wrought damage estimated at $20,000, was the work of the Black Hand or some one who held a grudge against the grocer.

Windows for blocks around were shattered.

GRAND JURORS FAIL TO INDICT MEN IN POISON LIQUOR PROBE

Larceny and Dry Law Charges Filed in Wellsville Case.

24 OTHER COUNTS

Report of Indictments Made by Judge J. G. Moore.

Second degree murder charges filed against Lester Rowley, Raymond Carroll and William McKinnon, of East Liverpool, and Anthony Dash, of Wellsville, as a result of the death of Charles Devie, of Pittsburgh, in Wellsville on Dec. 21, last, were ignored by the Columbiana county grand jury which reported 24 indictments to Judge J. G. Moore in common pleas court, Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon.

Lack of Evidence.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes said that the testimony of physicians failed to substantiate the Wellsville police theory that Devie was a victim of poison liquor. Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, also ruled following an inquest that Devie's death was caused by "alcoholism."

However, the charges of petit larceny and furnishing liquor in violation of the prohibition law will be filed against the four youths today in probate court, to which the grand jury referred the case, it was announced. These charges will be based upon the purported confession of Lester Rowley that liquor was furnished Devie and that the latter, while in a drunken stupor, was robbed of $20.

Devie was found dead at the top of a stairway on the second floor of a vacant building at 1321 Main street, Wellsville.

Three of the four youths arrested in connection with the death were released on bond. McKinnon, unable to furnish $3,000 bail, is a prisoner in the county jail. It is expected his bond as well as the surety posted by

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CERAMIST PROMISES RADIO WORLD ELIMINATION OF STATIC THRU INVENTION

By FRANK I. WELLER,
Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 8.—Absolute elimination of static was promised the radio world today by Prof. Dana Demorest, head of the department of metallurgy, Ohio State university, who admitted his identity as the creative genius behind a secret invention for which patent is pending.

Further than the bare statement that he had produced a simple radio attachment and had proven conclusively that it will intercept all forms of interference, Professor Demorest, acting on advice of his attorney, declined to give further information.

The discovery that Professor Demorest had produced the device, which is registered in the U. S. patent office, under the name of C. W. Woodruff, a Columbus attorney, added tremendously to its importance in scientific circles. The professor it a member of a family of scientists and students. He was identified a short time ago as a ceramist and samples of clay to which he had given by his own formula, that rare old coloring believed to have been lost in the mystery of the pyramids, brought him world-wide attention.

While he refused to discuss the construction or application of his invention until his rights had been fully protected by the government, the professor revealed in an exclusive interview that many demonstrations had been made in the presence of prominent radio manufacturers, or their representatives, who declares the instrument a sesame to a revolutionized industry. They offered him various sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 for sole control of the invention, he said, and since he does not care to become a producer, he will market it as soon as patent is granted.

Although his device is based on a scientific truth, Professor Demorest said, it is not a scientific discovery.

"There are a number of facts that enter into the operation of the contrivance," he confided, is small and of simple construction. It can be manufactured at a remarkably low cost and installed on any radio set or built into sets when they are manufactured.

"Static is not grounded by this equipment, as may be the popular belief. It merely is intercepted and carried into discard before the interference can reach the head-phones or loud speaker."

Professor Demorest said he had been experimenting with static elimination ever since radio was introduced and that while he entertained a more or less latent belief that either himself, or someone else, eventually would fetter the other tyrant, he was startled one night to find that a finishing "but as a whole the mechanism touch to the invention suddenly brought in a human voice and the resonant notes of a musical instrument with an undreamed of clearness and volume.

"There is no longer a question of our ability to get away from static," the professor declared.

"I have made a radio attachment to control interference in reception—and it works. It soon will be manufactured as a vital part of every radio. The principle is the same as that of a farmer's threshing machine which separates the chaff from the grain. In radio clear reception is the golden grain and my invention is the machine that bears off the chaff."

$15,000 PRICE OF GIRLS IN SLAVE TRADING

Russian Beauties Sold to Dealers in Argentina.

HAPPY, THEY SAY

Polish Maidens Among Victims; Latvia Investigates.

LONDON—Dispatches from various Baltic states declare that a huge traffic is proceeding for the sale of girls from Russia to Argentina and Brazil.

It is said tht a beautiful girl fetches as much as $15,000 cash down.

Latvian immigration officers recently notice that an extraordinarily large number of handsome girls had been arriving from Russia on their way to South America, and that they were accompanied by nondescript husbands.

Visits Frequent.

It was also observed that these "husbands" were appearing every few months with a new beautiful wife. Their visits became so frequent that investigation followed. The Latvian police now believe that they have discovered a colossal white slave organization whose headquarters are in Moscow.

These pretty girls are mainly Russians, but it seems there are also some Poles and Rutherians.

When questioned, some of the girls told the officials that they were overjoyed at the possibility of leaving Russia, and when it was hinted that they might become white slaves they retorted, "Better a white slave in South America than the hungry plaything of the Communists in Russia."

Bring Big Prices.

According to details obtained by the Latvian police, white slavers sell the girls at prices varying from $5,000 to $15,000 in South America.

Hundreds of girls are passing through the port of Riga alone every month, and it is believed that thousands have already been transported by slavers.

Under the Communist regime in Russia the slavers have little difficulty in "marrying" several wives each year and then accompanying them abroad.

And while the Latvian police are practically certain that hundreds of girls are passing through their country, destined for a life of shame, because of lack of definite proof they are unable to take action. Investigations, however, are proceeding and it is hoped an end will be put to this shameful traffic.

Satisfaction the Limit!

"How deep do you usually dig a well?" someone asked a toiling tapper of nature's crystal fountain.

"Down where the water is" was the satisfying reply.

Store service that stops anywhere short of its object—which is your satisfaction—is as incomplete as a well shaft that stops a foot above the water.

Building, stocks, mechanical features of service—these are but the foundations for good storekeeping. To build a prosperous business, the interests of the customer must be served consistently and completely.

Thus are enduring trade friendships created; thus is a store permanently fixed in the esteem of a community.

The only limit to the service of this store is your satisfaction.

FOUR HUNDRED FLEE AS FIRE HITS TENEMENT

$200,000 Blaze Sweeps Five-story Brooklyn Building.

25 FIREMEN HURT

Encased in Ice, 150 Men Battle Flames for Two Hours.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. — Four hundred tenement dwellers were driven to the streets in scanty attire early today when a $200,000 fire of undetermined origin swept through a five-story Brooklyn furniture factory and menaced the block of tenement houses for more than two hours.

One hundred and fifty firemen, brought to the scene by four alarms, battled the flames for two hours although they were encased in armors of ice. Twenty-five of them suffered minor injuries from falls on the ice-covered streets and from exhaustion superinduced by the cold and smoke.

Police reserves were summoned to control the crowd of excited tenement dwellers. In many instances the residents refused to leave the threatened buildings and had to be forced to the street. Suffering from the cold and the bitter wind that whipped the flames, the refugees were huddled in a school building and nearby stores.

A three-story fur storehouse and a two-story structure occupied by a grocer, which adjoined the factory, also were damaged badly by the fire.

evolution is about over. Woman's is only starting.

Charles E. Welch, grape juice manufacturer, ardent advocate of prohibition, has died suddenly of acute indigestion. You will now hear the ungodly, including some physicians, say that Dr. Welch would not have died had he taken the Biblical hint and "a little wine for his stomach's sake."

The greatest doctors in Europe told E. H. Harriman's relatives that he need not have died so young had he taken good light wine in moderation to help his digestion.

Other doctors said that President Harding died of indigestion because he continued to eat heartily, after swearing off completely.

But you know that Satan always finds arguments, and, anyhow, no indigestion is worse than bootleg poison that men take for indigestion now.

Fifty men and women visited Theodore Roosevelt's grave yesterday, the seventh anniversary of his death.

How quickly men fade into the background after death gets them. Dead only seven years and Roosevelt is as much a memory, a part of the past, as Harrison or Garfield.

The shipping board, recently selling some ships and burning up others, now asks permission to build two ocean liners.

Somebody will make money out of that suggestion if it goes through.

But will that somebody be the American public that will pay for the new boats?

If you were compelled to bet on that, how would you bet?

At a recent meeting of scoutmasters of the East Liverpool-Wellsville-Chester-Newell district, plans for observing the 16th anniversary of the Boy Scouts on February 7-13 were discussed. The various troops are arranging for displays and exhibitions in store windows. The civic service committee is arranging for use of the windows.

Arrangements are also being made for a scoutmasters' training course, which probably will be started during January.

The report was signed by Robert M. Atchinson of Salem, foreman of the grand jury.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Bearish traders attempting to capitalize the unexpected advance of the reserve bank rediscount rate of 4 percent found little encouragement in the action of the market today. The industrial speculative leaders were offered at prices from 1 to 4 points down at the opening, but in practically every case these proved to be the lowest prices for the movement, immediate recoveries taking place all along the line.

The California Oil stocks led a brisk rally in that section of the market, following the official announcement that distribution to stockholders of Pacific Oil would be in the form of $3 a share in cash and 2-5 share of Associated Oil company stock. Pacific moved up to above 78 and associated gained nearly two points.

The speculative district was not in the least flustrated by the advance in the bank's rediscount rate. It was generally felt that this step should have been taken long ago in order to equalize prime short term money rates with the outside market, but that the delay was occasioned by a desire to assist in stabilizing Britain's gold export situation. Bullish interests in Wall street hailed the event as an overshadowing bearish factor "out of the way."

ful, but by placing myself along with William Weaver, Walter Hill, Tom Milligan and Olen Dawson, I am glad to be a 'has-been.' This is a mark of honor."

In reviewing the work of the club during the past year, Dr. Lewis cited the fact that a room had been furnished at the City hospital; the Kiwanis magazine placed in the Carnegie, high school and Y. M. C. A. libraries; assisted in the fight against tuberculosis by purchasing health seals; contributed to the Salvation Army; contributed to new traffic lights and purchased enamel signs which are to be erected along the main highways leading into the city, all of which he classified as "tangibles."

"Among the intangibles we have brought about a better feeling of comradeship among members of the club," the retiring president said. "We have also encouraged a better understanding with the residents of the rural communities and the public at large."

In conclusion he voiced his appreciation for the support given his administration by the various committees and club members.

Girl, 17, Clutching Baby, Accuses Uncle In Kidnaping Story

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Clutching a five-months-old baby to her breast, Elsie Dunlevy, 17, poured into the ears of police today a semi-hysterical story of being kidnaped two years ago from her home in Manchester, Iowa, when she was 15, of being taken from place to place, always on the move for fear of being caught, beaten when she did not obey her captor's will and threatened with death if she revealed her plight.

The man she accuses is her uncle, John Dunlevy, 37-year-old mechanic, who has a wife and five children in Rochester, N. Y. He is held pending arrival of the girl's relatives from Manchester who are expected to take action against him.

Mr. Mabee stressed the importance of returning these reports at the earliest possible date.

Painted Mothers Scored

"If you asked me the greatest menace to the boyhood and the girlhood of East Liverpool, I would not tell you that it is the gambling dens, I would not tell you it is the booze joints, nor the movies, but I would tell you that I sincerely believe it to be the scarcity of real fathers and real mothers. Notice that I did not say wives—I said mothers. God knows we have plenty of wives and some of them change their names so often that we hardly know what to call them the next time we meet them.'"

The evangelist took his text from Matthew 19:22; "When the young man heard that saying he went away."

"This young man had a good home," the evangelist said "A good home has two things in it, namely, home authority and home example. Home authority and home example go together and the world at present is going to rot for the lack of both.

"One of the blackest clouds that is hanging over this nation tonight is that home authority is breaking down. Parental authority is a joke; it is reduced to a shadow. Your children are beyond your control; you have been weak. It is bad for you but worse for them.

Modesty Is Needed

"One mother who succeeded in bringing seven noble sons to manhood was asked how she did it. She replied, 'With prayer and a hickory stick.' I am satisfied that many a boy and girl could have been saved from the reformatories by the use of this splendid combination. I was in a home sometime ago where I thought they needed a hickory hanging on the wall with this motto under it: 'I need thee every hour.'

"The sad thing about this generation is that it is producing a type of women that are utterly unfit for motherhood—women who are going to give us the great sons for the next generation.

"Modesty is the crown of motherhood and most of the round-dancing, show-gadding, novel-reading, card-playing, gum-chewing, fashion-loving girls know little, if anything, about this priceless virtue."

A large delegation of members from the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church attended last night's meeting. It was necessary to extend the altar to take care of the large number of seekers who responded at the close of the service.

Evangelist Lincicome addressed a noon-day shop meeting at the R. Thomas & Sons plant today.

Services will be held again tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. W. A. Knapp Discusses "Ideal Church" In Sermon

Evangelist Warns Against Strife and Cliques at Revival Services in First M. P. Church.

"Official board night" was observed last night at the revival services in the First Methodist Protestant church. All members of the church board were present. Following the song service, Russell E. Kauffman, evangelistic singer, sang "Steal Away With Jesus Awhile."

Rev. W. A. Knapp, in charge of the meetings, spoke on "The Ideal Church," taking his subject from the Book of Acts and speaking especially of the Church of the Pentecost.

He said:

"The ideal church was not torn to pieces by strife and little cliques and divisions. There was no doubt in the minds of the first church members concerning the inspiration of the Bible, the virgin birth, atonement and resurrection. If you cannot believe the things the church stands for, you should leave the church.

"When I was an infidel during the first 20 years of my life, I believed just as the modernist believes today. Your little pigmy, puny, peanut head will never change the word of God. Peter never spent his Sunday night giving a little book review. He preached Christ and Him crucified.

"I have no use for Christian science and I believe it is of the devil. It is like the fellow who dug a hole, crawled in and pulled the hole in after him.

"Christ died for our sins and shed His blood that we might be saved. We do not serve a Jew who was killed and buried in a tomb years ago, but a living, real Christ. If you don't know Christ as a personal Savious in your life, you'll go to hell sure.

"Nowadays, church folk can cuss the same as the worldly folk. The line between the church and the world seems to have been erased.

"When people are bitter and will not speak to each other, it grieves the spirit of God and you cannot have a revival. Clean up and get everything out of the way and the fire will fall."

Tonight will be Sunday school night when all Sunday school teachers will be in attendance with their classes. Saturday night is "Shoppers' Night."

Skin saving soap for wintry days

Nobody's foolish enough to say that soap, however good, can absolutely prevent chapping. But this is true—a pure, mild and rich lathering soap helps a lot because it can cleanse quickly and leave the skin's natural oil in. A cleansed skin with clear active pores is better able to keep itself in normal shape—so wash with the wonderful lather of Sweetheart. It's pure, mild and low priced.

Radiola-28

ART and engineering of today offer no technical advantages for attaining perfect reception which are not embodied in Radiola 28. This eight tube Super-Heterodyne stands as an unsurpassed achievement of radio engineering.

The simple lines, the admirable proportions, and the artistic finish of the cabinet convey at first glance the impression of exceptional craftsmanship.

The quality of reception confirms this impression. We hear the music of an orchestra, the voice of a singer or speaker, the brilliant performance of a piano virtuoso with beautiful tone quality and controllable volume.

This eight tube Radiola embraces not only the famous Super-Heterodyne circuit, but also includes two tuned radio frequency circuits ahead of the Super-Heterodyne circuit which greatly increase both sensitivity and selectivity. Radiola 28 therefore filters out interfering signals with an efficiency never before attained and at the same time increases the range of reception. The new powerful Radiotron UX-120 which is used in the last stage of audio amplification, enables great volume distortion when Radiola 28 is dry battery operated.

A protective tube which prevents damage to Radiotrons from accidental short circuits is a unique feature of Radiola 28.This little "electric brain" lights up and limits any excessive voltage.

As it comes from the factory Radiola 28 is equipped for dry-battery operation. But it can also be operated from a 110 volt 60 clycle alternating current house supply circuit.

The Radiola 28 is designed for reception over the broadcast frequency band 550 to 1500 kilocycles (appoximately 200 to 550 meters.)

Voltmeter jacks are provided which permit accurate adjustment to the filament terminal voltage.

HOW RADIOLA 28 MAY BE OPERATED

The necessary votages for the operation of Radiola 28 may be obtained as follows:

Complete Dry Battery Operation

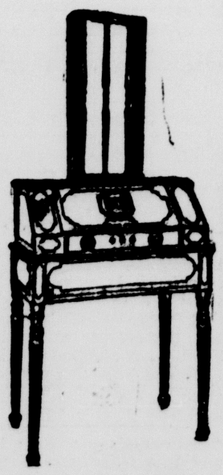

"A," "B" and "C" dry batteries used. It is for this method of operation that Radiola 28 is usually sold.

Combnation Dry Battery and 60 Cycle 110 Volt AC Lighting Circuit Operation

"A" and "C" dry batteries used — "B" voltage supplied from RCA Duo-Rectron on rectifier section of Radiola Loudspeaker 104.

Complete 60 Cycle, 110 Volt AC Lighing Circuit Operation

"A," "B" and "C" voltages suppled from rectified portion of Radiola Loudspeaker 104 thus eliminating all batteries. This requires the purchase of "AC package" Model UP-972. The conversion to AC operation can be made by us.

No New York Ship Canal

New York is disappointed in the result of a survey determining the cost of a ship canal from Lake Ontario to the Hudson. This project was regarded as a metropolitan substitute for the proposed deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea via the St. Lawrence. The figures show that for the present at least, it is hardly practicable.

The federal board of engineers making the survey find that the "All-American route" with a channel 21 feet deep would cost about $500,000,000, against $257,000,000 for the St. Lawrence route. If the New York state channel were deepened to 27 feet, as desired, it would cost more than $700,000,000.

The interest on the investment of $500,000,000 would be $5,000,000 a year more than the estimated saving by routing freight through such a waterway. So the project would need a virtual subsidy of several millions a year.

The power possibilities would be slight. The St. Lawrence project on the contrary, while costing only half as much, would be expected to pay for itself, nearly or wholly, from the water power obtained.

This is a blow to the hopes of the metropolis. It gives new impetus to the St. Lawrence plan. Most of the other states directly interested would probably be satisfied with either route, if both were feasible.

New York's loss will probably be less than her citizens anticipate. It is unlikely that the nation's chief seaport will cease to be such because of St. Lawrence competition. There is going to be plenty of commerce for both. New York should make the best of her present barge canal, which is not used to anywhere near its capacity, and deepen that channel as opportunity offers.

Factory Dentistry

Plans have recently been formulated for the establishment of a dental clinic for employes in a large factory in Ontario. The company dentist will examine the teeth of the entire staff and will given treatment or perform dental operations at cost. The clinic will be equipped with X-ray and all facilities for thorough work.

Employes will have a choice as to dentist, of course, but it is likely that most of them will choose to have their work done at the clinic both because of the moderate rates and because the work can be done on factory time.

In the long run the factory officials expect to gain by this innovation. It has been estimated that the business loses thousands of dollars a year directly through men suffering from decayed teeth, infected gums and other ailments that undermine vitality and working ability. It is economy in a factory equipped with fine machinery to see to it that its machinists also are kept strong and efficient.

It is likely that the plan will spread to other large factories and that such service will be established by groups of smaller organizations.

As time goes on, too, more industrial employers will find out that it eliminates waste and promotes efficiency to establish genuine bonds of mutual respect, understanding and co-operation between themselves and the workers in their shops and factories.

Voters And Newspapers

William Allen White remarks that people vote like mules. "But somehow they think and act almost like human beings outside of the election booth."

That is why some queer candidates get themselves elected and even re-elected. Yet in spite of that, public sentiment on the side of decency does make itself felt in vital matters, slowly but surely.

And newspapers largely make this influence effective. It has been said that any office-seeker in Chicago, Kansas City, New York or other large city, strongly opposed by leading newspapers in those cities, is sure of election. That is where the mulish voting comes in. But the day-in-and-day-out stand of those same newspapers for cleaner and wiser government is more important than the power or failure to carry elections. Voicing public opinion, educating it, leading it, as well as telling the news, are functions which newspapers perform regularly, usually with less credit than they deserve.

Fify Per-Cent Man-Power

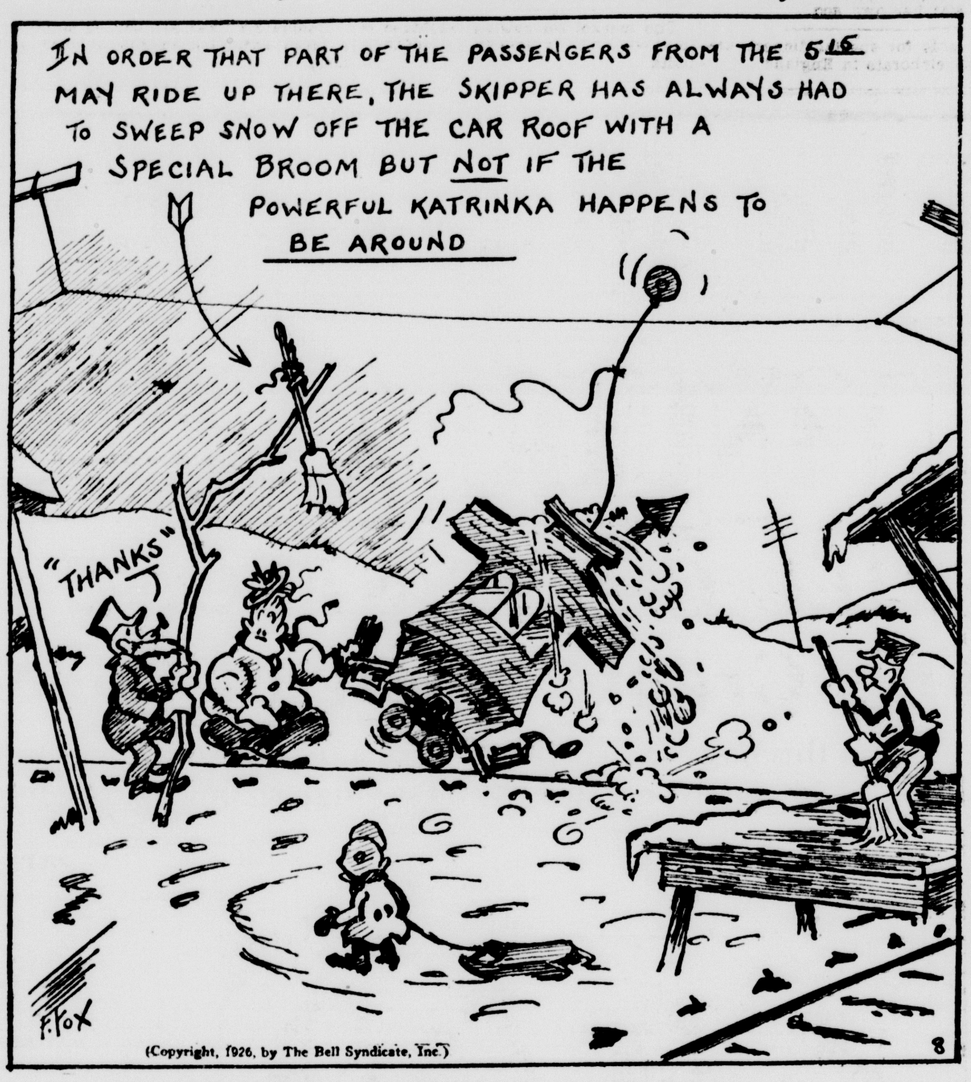

Half the man-power in America is wasted, declares Stuart Chase, of the Labor Bureau, Inc. Here is the way he figures it out:

On any ordinary working day there are 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 adults doing nothing. Most of them are idle against their will. They are victims of the "seasonal and cyclical unemployment," or of preventable accident or ill health. Add those who are idle by choice and those who are engaged in unnecessary or socially harmful work, and it makes half the national man-power, as aforesaid.

If it is anywhere near so bad as this, here is a big and imperative job for social and economic engineering.

Man-power is fundamental; all production comes from it. When we waste man-power, we waste not only time, money and material necessaries and comforts, but life itself. Better organization of this tremendous power, which is the chief and lasting resource of the country, might mean progress, prosperity and happiness beyond anything imagined.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thoughts while strolling: Harlem on a busy morning. Ornate buildings where goats once roamed. Still a few goats left. Puppies for sale in a department store. A westerner in rawhide boots. Serene skies and sun-drenched Coogan's Bluff.

Shiftless men lazing in tin-can shanties. The poisonous froth of a city's depths. Nothing so desolate as a ball field in winter. A motor van delicatessen. Stuffed crabs, pickles and pressed meat. The Jumel mansion and sooty tugs in the Harlem river.

The elevated "Suicide Curve" at One Hundred and Tenth street. Butler Hall. Hope no one sends me any more lucky chain letters. Absurd superstition. Street merchants selling pamphlets on "Success." And peppermint lozenges. Rows of cars standing at a market. Except one that hit a post. And is sitting down.

School children. Curls. Red tams. The outrushing of happy, frosty breaths. And the higgledy piggledy laughter of joyous hearts. Still I'll take middle age. A serious looking boy with a red nose. So trickles adventure. Wonder if youths are in love with their teachers in this age.

A few more weeks and robins will tug at worms in Central park. Whatever became of Galli-Curci? A famous throat specialist who rides a bicycle. The dignified, somberly Museum of Natural History. An evicted woman surrounded by wobbly chests, table, two chair, a rug and lamp.

West Seventy-second street now a shopping center. Street workmen warming themselves over subway ventilators. Limousine riders give them a pitying back glance but who are the happiest? The usual crowd aronnd a cracked plate window. Owners should announce how it was done.

An actress who renounced the world. The starter at the Athletic club with florid cheeks and a sort of vinous good humor. The old Savoy is now demolished. Those portico breakfasts are only memories. Hurry and change! New York's steady pace.

Along Central park west at dusk, in the chill and sometimes snow, are daily dog trotting to the Circle those athletic young collegiates in white running pants and sneakers. Their heads are back, mouth agape and gasping. We suppose 20 years from now ensconced in offices they will push a button for a red-headed office boy to bring them a drink of water across the room.

Evelyn Thaw is scheduled for Broadway a few doors from where 10 years ago she ran a tearoom. Her enterprise stranded on the White Way shoals and Evelyn was in dire financial difficulty. She was in the throes of drug addiction and her haggard appearance was far from the beauty that was hers when her pictures were emblazoned on all front pages at the Thaw trial. Today, a little matronly, the flash of her old beauty remains, and she seems restored to health. Her name is again written in fire on the Broadway heavens—even thought it is in front of a cabaret.

This story is relayed to me. A lady was mounting the public library steps. A type of professional flirt inquired: "May I help you up the steps?" There was a "No, thank you," and the lady continued. She was Annie S. Peck, who in 1908 ascended Mount Hauscaran in Peru, the highest point on this hemsiphere ever attained by a North or South American.

During Irene Castle's hey-dey of dancing popularity a young man danced with her and, not catching her name, tried to teach her a new step.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Handling Claims Against Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—As a result of the increased volume of claims against the government since the World War the Court of Claims found itself swamped with work. It had been jogging along comfortably with five judges who were appointed for life. Testimony was taken by stenographers and from this the judges reached their decisions. In many cases the testimony was so voluminous that it took them some time to make up their findings of fact so that the case might be heard in the court. With the sudden influx of new cases the judges found the task too great to permit them to handle them with the desired promptness.

Last March, therefore, congress authorized the appointment of seven commissioners for terms of three years each. They are all lawyers and it is their duty to take the testimony in cases brought to the court and then to make their findings of facts so that they may be presented to the court when the case is brought before it.

The appointment of these commissioners has not only proved a great aid in expediting the handling of cases, but it has saved the government money. A large number of claims bear interest and it is therefore greatly to the advantage of the government to have them settled promptly. These are for the most part cases of refunds of taxes erroneously assessed. Interest is also allowable as part of the amounts due for just compensation for property taken.

As is well known, during the war the various executive departments were authorized to take what they needed in the way of coal, ships, or other things necessary to the successful prosecution of war. In a great many instances the owner was not paid the full value of the articles, but he was permitted to sue the government for the balance. Such cases are now reaching the court daily. The sooner they are adjudicated the greater the saving in interest to the United States.

Saves Time and Money.

The new system of having trained lawyers take the testimony and present their findings to the court is also a great help to the plaintiffs. Where under the old method of procedure it was necessary for the plaintiff to come to Washington to give his testimony, the commissioner now goes to him. He is therefore spared considerable expense and time. There is now in Europe a commissioner taking testimony in what is known as the Brooks-Scanlon group which consists of eight cases involving $35,000,000.

No foreign subject can sue the United States government unless it is shown that his government allows a like privilege to the citizens of the United States. An investigation is now being made in Russia to discover whether the Soviet government provides for this. In the Civil war claims it was necessary for the plaintiff to prove his allegiance to the federal government before he might file a claim. The Court of Claims is the only court in the United States where a citizen may sue the government. If he is not satisfied with the decision of the court he may appeal to the supreme court of the United States. An unofficial survey recently made showed that out of 175 cases taken to the supreme court the decision of the court of claims was upheld in 150. Nineteen decisions were reversed, four modified, one approved in part and one case remanded.

It seems to be little known that the court of claims handles a great many tax cases—that is, those based upon internal revenue taxes such as capital stock taxes, income taxes, excess profits taxes, beverage taxes, estate taxes, sale taxes, and stamp taxes. During the fiscal year 1925 this court disposed of approximately 325 of such cases, and there are a number still pending. These are cases where the tax payer has been dissatisfied with the ruling of the board of tax appeals and has taken his case to this court.

One of the new commissioners said recently that it frequently happens that a decision of a single case in the court of claims disposes of hundreds or thousands of similar cases without prosecuting further litigation. "Such a decision was recently rendered by the court,' he added, "I do not know the entire number of cases affected by this decision, but there are 7,000 cases in the Baltimore collection district alone affected thereby."

Many Claims Pending.

The court of claims was established by Act of Congress, February 24, 1855, and was at first merely a commission whose duty it was to file facts regarding claims for the guidance and action of Congress. The Civil war resulted in a great many claims for damage to property and such things and the court was given general jurisdiction over cases involving contracts.

There are now pending in the court of claims more than 2,000 cases involving approximately $2,000,000,000. In some of these cases the interest amounts to $5,000 a day, so that for each day of delay the government is out that much. It, therefore, behooves the commissioner handling such a case to make all speed possible in collecting the testimony and preparing his findings so that adjudication may be rendered as quickly as possible. Since the seven commissioners have taken office the length of time between the date of filing suit and that of rendering a decision has been greatly reduced.

An interesting anecdote is told of a former chief justic of the court. It appears that for a great many years there was pending in the court the case of George V. King of England vs United States. There is also in Washington a firm of lawyers named King who frequently appear before this court. One day the chief justice, coming across this case, absent-mindedly called for "the George V. King case." After that the case was known to all employees of the court by that name.

The sovereign power of a state can not sue the United States government, so that the case above referred to, being really that of a Canadian railroad against this government, was settled in some other fashion. The title of the railroad company was vested in the Crown of England and this was the reason the suit was filed in the name of George V.

Of the cases now pending the amounts involved range from $14, a refund of income tax, to $122,250,000 claimed for the infringment of patents on projectiles and shells.

The building used by the court of claims is in itself of interest. It was the original Corcoran Art Gallery and was connected with the old Corcoran residence. On the stairways and on the cornices over the doorways there is the initial "C." It is said that by many this is thought to indicate the court of claims, but it really stands for "Corcoran." The room in which the judges hold court is of medium size with high ceilings. In it are benches which were used in the original house of representatives. Their style and manner of arrangement suggested to a visitor the other day a Presbyterian church. The court proceedings, however, probably bear no resemblance to a service in a church of this denomination.

Baby's face and back covered with eczema

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5:—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep Resinol in my home!" (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

M. E. QUINTET COPS CONTEST

In a spectacular contest that was won in the last six minutes, the Methodists triumphed over the St. Stephens five, 43 to 30, in the Sunday school tilt last night.

The St. Stephens passers, making a great rally in the third quarter when they jumped from six points to 30, were leading the M. E. outfit by two points with an even half dozen minutes to go.

And the Methodists staged a near miracle in those last six minutes when they tallied 15 points while holding the St. Stephens team team absolutely scoreless.

The Presbyterian Juniors trimmed the St. Stephens Juniors, 36 to 31, in the preliminary.

The lineups:

Marty McManus Deal Declared Off; Huggins Refuses to Include Hoyt

Reliable Tip, Persists, However, That Both are for Sale if Respective Clubs Can Get Their Prices

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The Marty McManus deal, which has enjoyed more revivals than a Billy Sunday tour, died another lingering death today when the good word went forth that the New York Yankees had decided the young man was to be had only at a prohibitive price. They were willing to give one infielder, slightly used, and a pitcher of merely nominal value, in exchange for the St. Louis second baseman, but declined to be a party to the suggestion htat Waite Hoyt be included in the transaction.

All bets, therefore, have been declared off, according to present advice, in spite of the recent report that the Washington Senators were to be inveigled into the deal as a comprorise measure. This move, subseqeuntly denied by all parties concerned, was said to involve the transfer of Hoyt to Washington for Tom Zachary and Spencer Adams and the palming off of this pair on St. Louis for McManus.

As far as the writer's information is concerned, St. Louis could deny that one without looking.

Yet a reliable tip has persisted that the Browns would be pleased to part with McManus if they could get their price in players on the hoof. The Yanks feel the same way about Hoyt. Both are believed to have outlasted their welcome.

McManus is alleged to have been one of the leaders in a factional fight that developed among the members of the Browns after they failed to win the pennant in 1922. He is said to have been a rabid supporter of Lee Fohl, then manager of the club, who since has been eased gently but firmly out. Urban Shocker, another Fohl man, was traded to the Yanks with all due haste, leaving McManus to hold the bag.

The latter is declared to have been full of bricks, addressed to George Sisler. Apparanetly he has never forgiven himself. He has two alternatives, namely, to try another punch or another club. Our Mr. Huggins is understood to favor the latter method, merely as a matter of personal preference.

When Huggins and Sisler stopped whispering at the recent baseball meetings, McManus had been offered to the Yankees for Aaron Ward and Hoyt. The Yanks had countered by mentioning Ward and Bob Shawkey.

As for the Senators' alleged entry into the deliberations, it probably has no basis of fact. If the Browns wanted Zachary and Adams, they could get them directly from Washington for Joe Bush without so much as mentioning McManus' name.

WALKER BEFORE BOXING RULERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Accompanied by Tex Rickard, Jack Kearns, and his usual retinue, Mickey Walker, welterweight champion was scheduled to attempt to convince the state Athletic commission today that it made a mistake when it declared him "unavailable" for his scheduled title bout with Tommy Milligan, of England, on January 22.

Walker will submit himself to a physical examination in the hope of proving that his injured toe, which prevented a bout with Milligan for the Christmas Fund, has healed completely.

Rickard was to be present to point out to the board that, since he personally lost $11,000 on the Christmas fund bouts, he should be given a chance to get even. Billy Ames, manager of Milligan, will add the claim that a postponement will be an injustice to the Englishman, who traveled four thousand miles for the bout.

SWIMMERS BREAK THREE RECORDS

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Johnny Weismuller, Arne Borg and Ethel Lackie, holders of world swimming records, have done it again.

Weismuller today owns a brand new record for the 220 yards, after swimming that distance in 2:10 2-5, beating his own record of 2:14. Borg broke Weismuller's 440-yard record and the new time stands at 4:47 1-5. Miss Lackie broke her own record of 1:03 1-5 for the 100-yard sprint by doing it in 1:02 4-5.

These new records were hung up last night at the Illinois Athletic club open swimming meet here. All three are members of the I. A. C.

White Sox-Giants to Barnstorm Next Year

TUCSON, Ariz.—Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, said yesterday his team and the New York Giants will make a barnstorming tour of South America at the close of the 1926 season.

Demands Miss Wills First be Forced to Play Second Raters

PARIS, Jan. 8.—Helen Wills, American tennis star, who is now enroute to France to compete in Riviera tournaments, will have to defeat all of the second rate French women tennis players before she can meet Mlle. Lenglen, if the newspaper L'Information has its way.

L'Information today carried an editorial stating that the French boxer, Marcart, is on his way back to Paris on the same boat as Miss Wills, after having been unable to secure bouts in the United States with anything but second-raters. It suggests that Mascart has been mistreated in America and demands that Miss Wills be forced to play with second string players.

Wreck Sporting Goods Store in Los Angeles To Get Grange Tickets

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—The desire of thousands to see "Red" Grange in action here Jan. 16, temporarily wrecked the business of a local sporting goods store.

Announcement that tickets for the game between Grange's Chicago Bears and a local aggergation of stars were on sale, brought a milling mob two blocks long and four deep several hours after the store opened for business today.

In an hour and a half 30,000 tickets had been sold for the game and the crowd was still growing.

Regular cuotomers were unable to gain admission to the sporting department and the management literally threw up its hands in despair and locked the doors.

Not a single sale with the exception of tickets on which the store made no profit was made during the day.

More than 20 police had to disperse the crowd after the store's doors were closed.

He had been a patient at the hospital since December 24. Death was due to pneumonia.

POWERS PLAY MILLER BROS.

Power passers defeated the Triangles last night, 38 to 5, on the M. E. court, recording their ninth victory in 10 starts this season.

The Powers are scheduled to play the strong Miller Brothers quint, of Columbiana, tonight on the M. E. court and are expecting a stiff tussle with the former high school and college stars. The game will start at 8:15.

The Columbiana team's roster includes Howe, Robinson, Hawkins and Graham, forwards; Thomas, center; McMasters, Anderson and Kyser, guards.

Manager Geren of the Powers will have on hand Dickey, Cunningham and Ashbaugh as forwards; Jester and Bucher as centers; Mensforth, Rockhold, Cochran and Stuart as guards.

E. Palestine Cagers Here In First Tilt

Return of Orndorff to North Countians' Lineup Gives Visitors Veteran Squad; Hamilton and Wilson at Forwards for Locals; County Seat Outfit Here Tomorrow.

EAST PALESTINE tonight and Lisbon tomorrow night. This is the court assignment for East Liverpool high school passers for the week-end, their first since the holidays, and their first since the defeats at the hands of Franklin and Marshall and the Alumni, two aggregations that would win 99 times out of 100 from any ordinary high school outfit.

Lorah's five will be playing its first county game tonight, and a similar situation exists for the East Palestine team.

The Brown and White has been steadily at work since the holidays and is in excellent condition for a hard struggle with the locals. It is practically a veteran team, with four of last year's five remaining. In addition, Center Orndorff, who played two years ago, but who was out last season as a result of a physician's orders, has returned to the fold and adds considerable strength to East Palestine's offensive movements.

Both the girls' and the boys' team will be in action. Mrs. Hazel Mast, coach of the local sextet, will use practically the same line-up that started against the Alumni, with Corns, Gilliland and Imbrie on the forwards, and Waggle, Barnhart and Hutson or Wilson on the guards.

Coach Lorah will probably start Jimmy Hamilton at a forward tonight, along with Wilson; Bough at center, and Pusey and Paul English at the guards.

His reserve forces will be strong, with Deidrick and Elmer English in line for use at forwards and Allison at a guard.

Every effort will be made to start the preliminary tilt between the girls tonight at 7:15, Athletic Director Boone announced today, and the main go at 8:15.

A fast engagement is anticipated, with Bill Watkins refereeing.

DEPOSITORS MAY RECEIVE MONEY

Former Representative Benjamin F. Rosenbloom of Wheeling, now receiver for the Burgettstown National bank, was in Washington yesterday in conference with the comptroller of the currency in regard to winding up the affairs of the institution.

Mr. Rosenbloom said that a dividend of 50 per cent had already been paid depositors and that he was about ready to declare one of 20 per cent and that if the sale of certain coal lands turned out as is now expected the bank's depositors will be paid in full.

The showing of the receiver is regarded as remarkable, since it had been the general belief that depositors would be lucky to receive back a small fraction of their supposed losses.

Utah Nuts Reforesting Denuded Persian Lands

Ogden, Utah.—Twenty-five cents worth of pine nuts purchased three years ago from a local fruit store are helping reforest Persia.

Three years ago, H. Rieben, at Tabriz, wrote F. S. Baker, of the forest service headquarters, asking for tree seeds. He was experimenting to find a species adapted for Persia.

Baker had no seed at hand, but he went to a neighboring fruit store and bought 25 cents' worth of pine nuts, sent them to Rieben and forgot the matter.

Recently, he received another letter from Rieben reporting that the seed had thrived and asking more of the same variety.

Mr. Baker has invested another 25 cents and the fruit store product is on its way to Tabriz.

FRENCH PLAN TRIP TO POLE BY NEW YORK

Hydroplane With Mystery Motor to Start in April.

TRACTOR SLEDGES

Fliers Will Carry Wireless Outfit to Call for Relief.

PARIS.—By hydroplane from the North Pole to Paris by way of Chicago and New York is the proposed itinerary of the French Mission to the North Pole, as outlined by Lieutenant Sales of the French navy, chief of the expedition.

Six amphibious motor sledges, the technicalities of which are being carefully kept secret, will play an important part in the proposed expedition which is to be one of scientific study and is due to leave Calais in April.

The amphibious sled is an invention of a Norwegian, Capt. Otto Sverdrup, who was commander of the steam Fram that was imprisoned in Arctic ice for three years. Captain Sverdrup will accompany the expedition in charge of his sledges. Although the secret of the sledges is being guarded it is believed that they are a sort of caterpillar tractor fitted with spikes for ice travel and paddles for water navigation.

Motors Are Powerful.

Five of the "mystery motors" will be heavy duty machines capable of carrying a load of four or five tons. On two of them will be loaded the two hydroplanes, which will be entirely assembled with the exception of the wings. Three other motor sledges will carry food, gasoline, oil and supplies as well as the sixteen men who make up the expedition. The sixth sledge will be lighter than its brothers but much faster and will be used as a scout, always in the lead to guide the way.

The expedition, which under the auspices of the French navy and the ministry of public instruction, is estimated by Lt. Sales to cost three million francs and plans to leave Calais the last of April, 1926. The departure from Calais will be made by steamer to Spitzbergen, rechristened Svalbard. From King's Bay, Svalbard, the Mission intends to embark aboard their six amphibious machines for the North Pole.

"We hope to reach the Pole in about ten days," says Lt. Sales, "as Capt. Sverdrup assures me that his sledges will make eighteen miles an hour on the ice. I am going to the Gulf of Findland with Capt. Sverdrup next month to try out his invention.

"Our intention is to cross the Pole and establish a camp some fifty miles east of it betwen the Pole and Alaska. We expect to remain at this base some fifteen or twenty days, during which time the hydroplanes will be mounted and favorable weather conditions awaited."

Equipped With Wireless.

As both planes and the sledges will be equipped with wireless the French government has asked the government of the Soviets to emit meterological reports from their two stations at Dickson and Sredne-Kolymsk in Siberia, for the guidance of the expedition.

"As soon as weather conditions are favorable, continued Lt. Sales, "we will hop off for Point Barrow, Alaska, a distance of nearly 2,000 kilometers, which we hope to make in ten hours' flying. The sledges will continue on with ten men, as six men will leave aboard the planes; a pilot and navigator in each plane as well as a wireless operator in one and a mechanic in the other."

In case the planes are forced to land before reaching Point Barrow they will wireless to the sledges, who in turn will rush to the rescue. The planes wil carry food supply for two months for the crew of three men.

"At Point Barrow," says Lt. Sales, "we have arranged for a gasoline supply at 53 cents a gallon f. o. b. Nome. From Point Barrow we intend to fly to the mouth of the McKenzie river, follow the river to Winnipeg, from Winnipeg to Chicago, and from Chicago to New York.

"As we expect to leace Point Barrow about July 1 we should arrive in New York about August 1. It is about 6,000 kilometers and I hope we can make it in ten hops of 600 kilometers a hop. Once in New York we will detach the wings and load the planes aboard a steamer for Havre. In Havre we will assemble the planes and fly to Paris, alighting on the Seine, home again."

Grateful for U. S. Aid.

Lt. Sales expressed his appreciation for the aid given him by Majors Arnold and Hunsley of the United States Air Forces who have given the lieutenant the benefit of their experience in flying from Mitchell Field to Alaska. Lt. Sales says he intends to follow almost the same route.

"White Desert," at American Theatre, Is Great Picture

A lasting tribute to the rugged terrifying beauty of Colorado, the like of which has never been presented on the stage or screen before,a gripping drama that has all the essentials of realism, are the contributing factors that make "The White Desert," which opened at the American theatre last night, a truly great picture.

The production was filmed at the top of the Continental Divide and is a monument to the ability of Reginald Barker, who directed the picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. In "The Great Divide' Barker gave the motion picture world a fine picture. In "The White Desert" he has contributed a great one.

The story has for its basis the hazards facing a railroad company who are building a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. An avalanche caused by heavy blasting in the tunnel sweeps down over the construction camp and carries away many of the workmen and destroys the camp.

Faced With Starvation.

The survivors are faced with starvation. The storehouse has been swept away and the telegraph lines are down cutting off all communication. A blizzard each hour brings near the threat of complete isolation.

The battle with the elements, which these hardy men of the outdoors wage, from the background for great dramatic moments. The wind-worn peaks and great stretches of snow-swept mountains have been photographed in all their astounding beauty. Realism stalks through the picture. It moves with such terrific force as to literally beat the viewer into admiration.

Every member of the cast should be credited with a fine performance. Claire Windsor was never more winsome in this role which marks one of her finest achievements on the screen. As Robinette she has contributed a characterization that is unequalled by her mony other successes.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

© CENTRAL EUROPEAN NEWS

FORTY-THREE.

Mrs. Brent Daly arose peevishly when the persistent buzzing of the telephone by the satin-faced chaise lounge, shattered her afternoon nap. She was angry because there was no maid to attend her, despite the fact she had expressly given Louise permission to be absent that afternoon and evening.

"Yes?" she began unwillingly.

"Nell! How are you?"

The voice sounded vaguely familiar. "Ver ywell, but who is this?"

"Can't you guess?"

"I'm afraid I cannot." Persons who expected her to guess things always exasperated Mrs. Daly.

"It's Mary—Mary Harwood."

"Oh . . . Mary!" Her surprise was evident. "How are you?" What could her former sister-in law want?

"Why haven't you been to see me?"

"Why . . . I've been intending to, but ——."

"Yes, I know. Busy as always . . . Are you having any one in for tea this afternoon?"

"No, that is—I'm alone. . . Can you stop in for a cup of tea?"

"If I won't be ——."

"No, no. I was going to have—Well, come about five." She was so disturbed that she couldn't think, and turned away from the phone puzzled. What did Mary want? Was this a friendly call? She had her doubts. Mary had never cared much about her. She was Noble Harwood's sister; how could Mary overlook that now?

Mrs. Daly got up languidly and looked around for something to wear. Four o'clock. She wondered if there were any cakes to serve with the tea. She would have to serve it herself. She disliked the idea of having to receive Mary Harwood alone. . . Why was Mary coming anyway? Was trouble impending?

She greeted her former sister-in-law at the entrance portal wearing a black velvet frock with pipings of gold thread and yellow lace ruffles, a dress she had not been intending to wear until the Bridge Circle met and gave her an opportunity to reveal it. It was a Callot model, and she was the only member of the Bridge Circle who ever paraded Parisian importations except possibly on very special occasions. Mrs. Brent Daly got considerable satisfaction out of every new gown or frock or coat.

They kissed like affectionate sisters. "Nell, it has been so long since I've seen you."

"Yes, it has been a long time." She led the way to her sun parlor.

"I've been expecting you to come and see me, or I would have phoned you sooner," Mary Harwood said, sitting down.

"I've been intending every day ——." It was just a friendly call. Nell decided. Mary was reconciled to the loss of Noble. Well, that was the way to look at it. She wondered if another man had been the cause of this unexpected sensibleness about the matter. Mary Harwood in another romance? It sounded absurd, but ——."

"I'm sure you have some simply wonderful things to tell about your trip," she suggested. She carefully noted Mary's chic frock of beige crepe georgette, piped with darker crepe de chine, a creation intended for a more slender woman. She was glad that Mary, in her quest for youthful appearance, hadn't resorted to an extreme bob. Mary's nose was too severe to be made conspicuous.

"Of course I enjoyed it immensely," the first Mrs. Harwood replied, "but there is only one place dear to my heart."

"I never knew before that you cared so much for Central City," Mrs. Daly observed, perhaps drily. She decided that Mary would look better if she used less rouge. Her sister-in-law certainly seemed to have deteriorated in her absence.

"Something rather interesting happened while I was away," Mrs. Harwood observed.

"I suppose you mean ——?" She didn't like the light in her visitor's eyes. It gave her the idea that Mary was playing again.

"Yes, Noble's wedding. I imagine it had been in his mind quite some time?"

"I really couldn't say."

"I suppose he had her all picked out before ——."

"I know you don't believe that, Mary."

Mrs. Harwood shifted her position in her chair, annoyed. "Naturally YOU don't think so."

Nell Daly did not meditate her reply: "I hope, Mary, that we can be friends."

The other woman regarded her intently for a moment. "I should hate you, but I don't."

Mrs. Daly got up and came to sit down by her former sister-in-law. "You're looking at it in the only sensible way," she said, taking the visitor's hand comfortingly.

"Sensible?" There was a touch of bitterness in her tone.

"What's done can't be undone," Mrs. Daly followed up.

"Don't you believe it!" Mrs. Harwood seemed suddenly to have come to life. "What is stolen can be stolen back. If that little wench thinks she can keep Noble, she's ——."

"Why, Mary!"

Los Angeles Is Becoming Silk Producing Locality

Two Hundred and Twenty Thousand Mulberry Trees Laid Out and Buildings for Worm Culture are Erected.

LOS ANGLES—This city, the largest user of silk in America, is to become a silk-producing locality.

In 1854 an attempt was made in California by a farmer, who had come overland from New Jersey, to raise raw silk. Through his lack of knowledge of silk worm culture, the venture failed.

This year, a closed corporation largely financed by capital furnished bankers in San Diego county, have successfully embarked on a raw silk venture in Escondido Valley with an outlay of 220,000 mulberry trees and buildings for worm culture, costing $300,000.

Complete Plant Opened.

Rallying to the support of the first organized effort to produce raw silk on the continent, David H. Young, for more than 30 years identified with the silk industry in Paterson, N. J., has opened a spinning and weaving mill at Hermosa Beach, which is the first complete plant, including its dyeing and finishing unit, to be established in the west.

It is these two allied industries which will shortly attract nation-wide attention toward the Pacific coast, according to a prediction made here a cording to a prediction made here a few days ago by E. E. Bradley, director of the Silk Association of America, and said to be the foremost figure identified with the industry. Bradley passed through here on a visit from New York.

The southwest and particularly that section along the Pacific coast, is the largest silk-consuming market on the continent, according to Bradley, and with steps made toward establishing branches of the industry in the center of the market, eastern weaving mills will soon be giving the move serious attention.

In the 10-year period beginning with 1915, approximately 2,500,000 bales of raw silk invoiced at $2,000,000,000, has been handled through Pacific ports, according to Young, of the Hermosa Beach mill. With the added costs of manufacturing, cutting and transportation costs, silk goods valued at $500,000,000 have been disposed of in Los Angeles alone in that period, while goods worth $75,000,000 more in the shape of finished silks passed through Pacific ports and were sold to the Orient.

Big Market on Coast.

With the year nearing end, it is estimated that California and its trade territory in the Pacific states, has consumed $75,000,000 worth of finished silks in 1925, manufactured from the raw product which first entered the continent on the western seaboard.

According to Young's survey of the silk field, the present raw silk enterprise at Escondido can supply a domestic market with 50,000,000 pounds annaully when it is well under way, while the textile branch of the industry has a trade consuming territory worth nearly $100,000,000 annually and Oriental purchases amounting to $12,000,000 a year.

England Raising Race of Combative Giantesses

London.—England is raising a race of combative giantesses, Dr. Leonard Williams, an internationally known medical specialist, asserted recently. He said it has become the fashion to teach, induce and even compel girls to play games which were originally invented for big boys and young men.

"In teaching and making girls play these games," he claimed, "you develop the combative instinct and the combative muscles. In this way you are raising a race of giantesses who are going to have the combative disposition. Another effect of this ultra-athleticism among girls of today is to produce a creature who has the male rather than the female characteristics."

Buddhist Priest Hit By Baseball, Seeks Damages in Japan

NAGOKA, Japan. — Baseball magnates in Japan, like their brethern in America, have their troubles.

For instance, Kenzo Kobayashi, who owns the Sawamasa team here, is being sued for damages because an errant foul ball smote a spectator on the forehead. The spectator is Rev. Bun-o Kimura, a Buddhist priest.

"It is more a moral than a legal affair with me," the priest declared in explaining his spit. "The baseball folks went a bit too far. They not only refused to express regret, but they claimed that I was trespassing because I was inside the enclosure. That is more than anyone with common sense could tolerate."

Valuable Army Records Are Failing to Pieces

Washington.—Invaluable records of the War department, covering the vital period in American history from the War of 1812 to the World war are rotting and falling to pieces as a result of inefficient methods of caring for them, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, adjutant-general of the army, told Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis in his annual report.

"Many of the original muster rolls have become almost illegible in places as the result of years of constant handling and some have been patched up with tracing cloth in order to keep them from falling apart," Davis said. "Their gradual disintegration will, of course, continue until they shall have literally fallen to pieces, unless the constant handling to which they have been subjected can be obviated."

WOOL GROWERS TO HOLD MEET

Columbiana County to be Represented at Convention.

The annual meeting of the Ohio Wool Growers' association will meet in Columbus Friday of next week. Delegates representing the Columbiana County Wool Growers' association will be Charles W. Heim of East Rochester and Clark Thompson of St. Clair township. At this meeting it will be explained that through the cooperative pool the organization through its Columbus office during the last year handled 4,552,852 pounds of wool, and all by consignment to the cooperative pool.

Of the volume consigned 406,854 pounds were received from Indiana shippers; 342,210 pounds came from Michigan growers and 45,000 pounds were received from Pennsylvania growers, the latter being consigned to the Horkheimer co-operative warehouse at Wheeling, W. Va. Only about 1,200,000 pounds of this volume of wool remain to be sold during the second period. The wool sent to the pool last year was from 10,200 growers, which is almost 1,000 more shippers than were recorded for 1924.

The Columbus meeting, in addition to including the annual election of officers will take the form of an educational gathering. It is arranged to have eastern manufacturers at this meeting to lead in a study of wool uses and requirements.

The Columbiana county delegates will make a report of the Columbus session to the County Wool Growers' association at its next meeting to be held at the Farm bureau office in Lisbon, the date for which is to be selected later.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

O'Brien Boy Thin and Pale

In a Little Over Two Months Gained Eleven Pounds

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compounds Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Carnahan's or Mathew's Medicine store or any druggist in America. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

Radio Solved In India Nearly 1,000 Years Ago, Is Claim

Records in Palmyra Leaves Treat of Wireless, Cotton, Embalming and Geology.

LONDON.—Many complex scientific problems, including that of wireless telegraphy, had been solved in India nearly a thousand years ago, according to ancient books and manuscripts which have just come to light in Calcutta.

These records, the property of Dr. Syed Mohammed Kassim, constitute the rarest and most valuable library in India, according to information reaching London.

The library contains numerous manuscripts of palmyra leaves, dealing with religion, philosophy, arts, science, history, medicine, astrology, palmistry and many other subjects. It is believed to have had its origin long before the Bijapur kingdom in India.

Many Subjects Treated.

Among the subjects treated are:

Embalming—The process described is so elaborate and of such a similar character that there is reason to believe that the ancient Egyptians learned this art from the Indians.

Wireless Telegraphy—It is said that communication can be carried from one place to another thousands of miles away by means of two stone plates specially constructed.

Cotton growing—Processes are described by means of which it is possible to grow cotton of any color desired.

Geology—Operations are explained by means of which it is possible to know what things are hidden below the surface of the earth, so that the location underground of such things as precious metals, hidden treasure, buried cities, etc., can be easily ascertained.

Glass—Processes are given to prepare a kind of glass, which, when held over the surface of the sea, will clearly show all its contents at the bottom.

Snow fall—Ways are shown to cause snow fall in hot countries and prevent its fall in cold regions.

Methods are also set forth; to level big mountains; to keep water hot continuously for thousands of years, and to convert base metals into gold and silver.

Many tourists from America have inspected this famous library and there is a possibility that it will be purchased for removal to the United States. To prevent the removal of the manuscripts from India, efforts are being made at Calcutta to raise a fund to purchase the records and place them in a museum.

Idolizing of Youth Deplored by Priest In Kiwanis Address

AKRON, O.—Humanity is whirling to destruction in the glorification of youth, pleasure and excitement.

That is the picture drawn by the Rev. Father O'Keefe, of St. Mary's church, speaking before the Kiwanis club.

"We have gone too far in idolizing youth," Father O'Keefe declared. He pointed out that desire to be young and live the life of flaming youth was destroying the principles of Christianity. The uncontrollable urge to idolize young life is stripping mankind of all veneration for the aged, making young men and women precocious and relegating the middle aged individual to obscurity and losing to the world the benefit of wisdom and precept radiated by respectful maturity.

READ THE CLASSIFIEDS.

Us Men Can Learn From Women!

When you stop and think of it, there's no GOOD reason why a MAN shouldn't be just as careful of his skin as a WOMAN! Isn't that reasonable? Hundreds of women here in Liverpool make a HABIT of using Carnahan's Healing Balm both summer and winter. Are their skins more valuable than ours? And the price is 25c.

Police and Fountain News!

There's no time of year at our Fountain here
When a thirst can't shift into top high gear;
For we carry drinks of every description,
So bring in your thirst—we have the prescription.

Prices Raised!

Hot Water Bottles—in fact, all sorts of rubber goods have suffered a RISE in price! There has been no change in QUALITY in the ones we carry, however. Prices $1, $2, $3 and $4. Make the old one you have last as long as possible, but if you need one, we have them.

Knives!

KNIVES—Long Knives, Short Knives, Pocket Knives, Hunting Knives. We bought a sample line from a cutlery house and we certainly have quite a variety of knives on display in our center window at our Sixth street store, and they are all priced exceptionally low.

RENT RESOLUTIONS!

How are the new, clean, bright resolutions holding up? Do they show signs of wear yet or are they commencing to bend a bit? Are you sorry you didn't make some OTHER one instead of the one you DID make?

Personally we admire a person who makes a Resolution. We look on them a great deal like Mark Twain looked on boils. A friend of his had a boil on his neck and was complaining about the discomfort of boils in general but PARTICULARLY boils that grew on one's neck. Mark agreed with him and stated firmly that if he HAD to have a boil he'd prefer to have it on his mother-in-law!

And that's about US on the Resolution uestion.

So in case YOUR Resolution is getting frayed along the edges—why, just bring it in and we'll do all WE can to straighten it up for you.

Shorty Says:

Why Anyone should mess around patching up a resolution when it's so blamed easy to make ANOTHER one has always been apple sauce to ME! I've got a couple trunks full of mity fine resolutions, many of them practically new and unused. I've got 205 "SHOP HERE FIRST" (meaning drug stores) resolutions, which Jack wants me to give to that many local shoppers! This particular resolution fits mity neat on Anyone and is guaranteed to show the owner enormous dividends in Dollars and Contentment. Get one before they're all gone. It's a 1926 model, too!

Combs!

At no time in your life will you need a comb more than you will during 1926! Authorities agree on this. Our bob, pompadour, Grecian and Ace Combs are not only low priced at this time but are extraordinarily good to look upon. Assorted prices.

Cash Prize Given!

We have figgered out 28 uses for an Eveready Flash Light. To all those who bring in an ADDITIONAL USE that WE have NOT thought of, we will give one 10c piece FREE!

Our Poor, Poor Beauties!

Not content with the liberal favors conferred on them by generous Nature, they cluster about our Toiletries Counter with eager eye and happy smiles striving, striving and striving not only to KEEP their beauty but to IMPROVE that which they already have! An inspiring scene! And our lines of such things are COMPLETE!

The Doctor's Orders!

No matter how large and important our volume of GENERAL business grows, the IMPORTANT thing down deep in our hearts is the growth of our PRESCRIPTION Department. A Druggist's respect for a carefully compounded list o medicines is the really FINE thing about the business of drug storing.

Most Children Have Rickets, Survey Shows

Washington.—Secretary of Labor Davis reports that a preliminary statement of the first 18 months' work in the study of a practical method of community control of rickets conducted by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor indicates that 90 per cent of infants develop rickets in its mildest form during the early months of life.

The statement, contained in Secretary Davis' annual report, says: "This has been definitely demonstrated in the course of the study by X-ray photographs of the infants' bones taken at monthly intervals. If this mild form of rickets does not progress to a more severe degree, it has no apparent effect on the infant's general health.

"The investigation has shown that under the influence of cod liver oil and direct sunlight this mild degree of rickets can be completely controlled. Without the use of these measures, rickets will advance to a moderate or marked degree of severity in approximately 25 per cent of the children with resulting deformities and lowered resistance to infection."

Conditions Reversed.

ST. PAUL.—All the Europeans don't stay home to take in American dollars during the summer. Reversing the usual trend, European students now are flocking to America for travel-study and observation, said Dr. Towne Nylander, Princeton professor. Seven hundred European students will visit the Twin Cities next summer, he said here.

Mr. Bok, able, winning young American, born in Holland, says this nation ought to be in the League of Nations and finances his opinion liberally, which is his right. He accepts the world court as a desirable first step toward the league.

Another able American, born here, named George Washington, thought this country ought to keep out of European entanglements. He fought his way through one entanglement and did not want any more.

But Washington is dead, not clearly remembered in some quarters. Mr. Bok is alive, with money to spend. You remember about the "live dog and dead lion?" You will learn from this administration what it thinks of a dead Washington as compared with a live Bok.

Two babies were born in Chicago taxicabs yesterday. The former emperor of Germany was almost born in a stage coach, while his mother, daughter of Queen Victoria ,was traveling. A village doctor, frightened by the announcement that he must be careful of the heir to the Prussian throne, lost his head, pulled on the unborn baby's arm, causing a deformity still existing.

That story was told this writer by the great French doctor, Brunsequard, who went to Windsor Castle, at Queen Victoria's command, to see the child's deformed arm, some time later.

Brunsequard added that any one doctor might well have cured the deformity, but 50 doctors were too many for the poor child.

Later you will read of children born "in flight, five miles up, between Seattle and San Diego," and that flying machine, landing, will be rechristened "Genuine Stork."

President F. Edson White of Armour & Co., expects to cut $10,000,000 more off the cost of distribution and other overhead this year. If he succeeds, that will be $29,000,000 similarly cut off in three years.

Combinations make savings possible. The public should have brains enough to encourage big combinations, and keep some of the savings for itself.

There is a howl against a proposed combination of bakers. But in one city each shop selling bread is visited and solicited by from 10 to 15 wholesale bakers' wagons every day.

Who pays for those wagons and drivers?

The families that eat the bread.

The "garter bouquet" of real flowers is announced in Philadelphia, forget me-nots, presumably worn just below the knee. Women spent centuries hiding their legs even with dresses sweeping microbes from the ground.

Now they exhaust ingenuity calling attention to their legs, pink stocking, strange garters, slippers that look like a set of gold pony harness, no stockings, sometimes, high tide skirts.

It is puzzling but you may be sure that back of it all usefulness and wisdom are at work. Man's dull dress

President's Uncle, Fiddler, 80, Gives Boston Once-over

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—John J. Wilder, the president's uncle, today looked over a city for the first time in his 80 years of life.

"Uncle John" came down from his Plymouth, Vt., farm with his son-in-law, Carl E. Herrick, postmaster at Brownsville, Vt., to fill an engagement to play his fiddle at a local theater.

Astonishment was written on the face of "Uncle John" as he saw at first hand the things he had often read about.

A rehearsal, a visit to the governor and a visit to the mayor were in "Uncle John's" schedule for the day.

The president's uncle, who had his 100-year-old fiddle with him, said he wanted to meet "Mellie" Dunham, champion fiddler of Maine. Like Dunham, Wilder has been invited to play for Henry Ford, but he thinks Detroit is too far off.

KIWANIS CLUB OFFICERS FOR YEAR QUALIFY

Dr. Lewis and Harry Hoffman Lauded at Dinner Meeting.

WORK IS REVIEWED

Rev. R. W. Ustick, Wellsville, Makes Address.

Officers, who will be at the helm of the Kiwanis club during 1926, were installed at a dinner meeting in the Larkins annex, Market street, at 6:15 o'clock last evening.

Rev. Robert W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Wellsville, and lieutenant-governor of the sixth district of Ohio Kiwanis, was the speaker. He complimented the club on the choice of officers.

"Your new president," said the speaker in referring to C. C. Cline, "reminds me of President Coolidge. He talks but little but he is a hard worker and accomplishes much.

"I appreciate the responsibility of serving this district as lieutenant governor. We have a programm before this club in Ohio during 1926 which, if we live up to it, will make us most potent factor in the state. We have harnessed ourselves to the ideals which keep us marching on."

Dr. Lewis Retires.

Dr. George E. Lewis, retiring president, introduced Attorney Walter B. Hill, a past president, who acted as chairman. The chorus singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Clair Chambers as pianist. Prof. Laughlin rendered two vocal solos with his son, Robert Laughlin, as accompanist.

Attorney Hill presented the past president's button to Dr. Lewis.

"This classes me as a 'has-been,'" said the Chester physician. "A has-been' is usually regarded as reproach-

Painted, Powdered and Bobbed Mothers Scored By Evangelist

Sock-darning and Bread-making Women Praised by Rev Forman Lincicome at Oakland Church.

"I would not give one of those good old-fashioned, sock-darning, bread-making mothers for two carloads of the present day painted, powdered, bobbed-haired, short-sleeved, short-skirted, show-gadding, novel-reading, round-dancing sissies that can't turn a flapjack without spilling the batter all over the kitchen."

In these words, Evangelist Forman Lincicome of Gary, Ind., scored "modern mothers' in his sermon on "The Model Young Man" at the Oakland Free Methodist church last evening. Present day fathers came in for an equal share of censure from the evangelist.

"Some children have good mothers but very poor fathers,' he said. "God pity the mother who cannot say to her son, 'Son be like your father.' It would break my heart if the mother of our boys would have to go out of her own home to find a model for them.

Motorist Finds Baby in Basket Placed in Car

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8. — A three weeks' old blue-eyed baby boy was recovering from cold and exposure in St. Ann's hospital today. Michael Donnelly found a basket covered with brown paper in his automobile. He thought some one at his house party was playing a joke on him so he took the basket inside. The basket, after a time, became noisy.

Police have no clues as to the baby's identification as there were no marks on the child's clothing. He was wrapped in an old bath robe.

Wealthy Italian Grocer's Home is Damaged by Blast

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Police today rounded up all suspicious persons for questioning in connection with the bombing of the home of Dominick Trozzo, wealthy Italian grocer.

Authorities believe the wrecking of Trozzo's three-story residence by a bomb, which endangered the lives of seven persons in the house and wrought damage estimated at $20,000, was the work of the Black Hand or some one who held a grudge against the grocer.

Windows for blocks around were shattered.

GRAND JURORS FAIL TO INDICT MEN IN POISON LIQUOR PROBE

Larceny and Dry Law Charges Filed in Wellsville Case.

24 OTHER COUNTS

Report of Indictments Made by Judge J. G. Moore.

Second degree murder charges filed against Lester Rowley, Raymond Carroll and William McKinnon, of East Liverpool, and Anthony Dash, of Wellsville, as a result of the death of Charles Devie, of Pittsburgh, in Wellsville on Dec. 21, last, were ignored by the Columbiana county grand jury which reported 24 indictments to Judge J. G. Moore in common pleas court, Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon.

Lack of Evidence.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes said that the testimony of physicians failed to substantiate the Wellsville police theory that Devie was a victim of poison liquor. Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, also ruled following an inquest that Devie's death was caused by "alcoholism."

However, the charges of petit larceny and furnishing liquor in violation of the prohibition law will be filed against the four youths today in probate court, to which the grand jury referred the case, it was announced. These charges will be based upon the purported confession of Lester Rowley that liquor was furnished Devie and that the latter, while in a drunken stupor, was robbed of $20.

Devie was found dead at the top of a stairway on the second floor of a vacant building at 1321 Main street, Wellsville.

Three of the four youths arrested in connection with the death were released on bond. McKinnon, unable to furnish $3,000 bail, is a prisoner in the county jail. It is expected his bond as well as the surety posted by

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CERAMIST PROMISES RADIO WORLD ELIMINATION OF STATIC THRU INVENTION

By FRANK I. WELLER,
Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 8.—Absolute elimination of static was promised the radio world today by Prof. Dana Demorest, head of the department of metallurgy, Ohio State university, who admitted his identity as the creative genius behind a secret invention for which patent is pending.

Further than the bare statement that he had produced a simple radio attachment and had proven conclusively that it will intercept all forms of interference, Professor Demorest, acting on advice of his attorney, declined to give further information.

The discovery that Professor Demorest had produced the device, which is registered in the U. S. patent office, under the name of C. W. Woodruff, a Columbus attorney, added tremendously to its importance in scientific circles. The professor it a member of a family of scientists and students. He was identified a short time ago as a ceramist and samples of clay to which he had given by his own formula, that rare old coloring believed to have been lost in the mystery of the pyramids, brought him world-wide attention.

While he refused to discuss the construction or application of his invention until his rights had been fully protected by the government, the professor revealed in an exclusive interview that many demonstrations had been made in the presence of prominent radio manufacturers, or their representatives, who declares the instrument a sesame to a revolutionized industry. They offered him various sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 for sole control of the invention, he said, and since he does not care to become a producer, he will market it as soon as patent is granted.

Although his device is based on a scientific truth, Professor Demorest said, it is not a scientific discovery.

"There are a number of facts that enter into the operation of the contrivance," he confided, is small and of simple construction. It can be manufactured at a remarkably low cost and installed on any radio set or built into sets when they are manufactured.

"Static is not grounded by this equipment, as may be the popular belief. It merely is intercepted and carried into discard before the interference can reach the head-phones or loud speaker."

Professor Demorest said he had been experimenting with static elimination ever since radio was introduced and that while he entertained a more or less latent belief that either himself, or someone else, eventually would fetter the ether tyrant, he was startled one night to find that a finishing "but as a whole the mechanism touch to the invention suddenly brought in a human voice and the resonant notes of a musical instrument with an undreamed of clearness and volume.

"There is no longer a question of our ability to get away from static," the professor declared.

"I have made a radio attachment to control interference in reception—and it works. It soon will be manufactured as a vital part of every radio. The principle is the same as that of a farmer's threshing machine which separates the chaff from the grain. In radio clear reception is the golden grain and my invention is the machine that bears off the chaff."

$15,000 PRICE OF GIRLS IN SLAVE TRADING

Russian Beauties Sold to Dealers in Argentina.

HAPPY, THEY SAY

Polish Maidens Among Victims; Latvia Investigates.

LONDON—Dispatches from various Baltic states declare that a huge traffic is proceeding for the sale of girls from Russia to Argentina and Brazil.

It is said tht a beautiful girl fetches as much as $15,000 cash down.

Latvian immigration officers recently notice that an extraordinarily large number of handsome girls had been arriving from Russia on their way to South America, and that they were accompanied by nondescript husbands.

Visits Frequent.

It was also observed that these "husbands" were appearing every few months with a new beautiful wife. Their visits became so frequent that investigation followed. The Latvian police now believe that they have discovered a colossal white slave organization whose headquarters are in Moscow.

These pretty girls are mainly Russians, but it seems there are also some Poles and Rutherians.

When questioned, some of the girls told the officials that they were overjoyed at the possibility of leaving Russia, and when it was hinted that they might become white slaves they retorted, "Better a white slave in South America than the hungry plaything of the Communists in Russia."

Bring Big Prices.

According to details obtained by the Latvian police, white slavers sell the girls at prices varying from $5,000 to $15,000 in South America.

Hundreds of girls are passing through the port of Riga alone every month, and it is believed that thousands have already been transported by slavers.

Under the Communist regime in Russia the slavers have little difficulty in "marrying" several wives each year and then accompanying them abroad.

And while the Latvian police are practically certain that hundreds of girls are passing through their country, destined for a life of shame, because of lack of definite proof they are unable to take action. Investigations, however, are proceeding and it is hoped an end will be put to this shameful traffic.

Satisfaction the Limit!

"How deep do you usually dig a well?" someone asked a toiling tapper of nature's crystal fountain.

"Down where the water is" was the satisfying reply.

Store service that stops anywhere short of its object—which is your satisfaction—is as incomplete as a well shaft that stops a foot above the water.

Building, stocks, mechanical features of service—these are but the foundations for good storekeeping. To build a prosperous business, the interests of the customer must be served consistently and completely.

Thus are enduring trade friendships created; thus is a store permanently fixed in the esteem of a community.

The only limit to the service of this store is your satisfaction.

FOUR HUNDRED FLEE AS FIRE HITS TENEMENT

$200,000 Blaze Sweeps Five-story Brooklyn Building.

25 FIREMEN HURT

Encased in Ice, 150 Men Battle Flames for Two Hours.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. — Four hundred tenement dwellers were driven to the streets in scanty attire early today when a $200,000 fire of undetermined origin swept through a five-story Brooklyn furniture factory and menaced the block of tenement houses for more than two hours.

One hundred and fifty firemen, brought to the scene by four alarms, battled the flames for two hours although they were encased in armors of ice. Twenty-five of them suffered minor injuries from falls on the ice-covered streets and from exhaustion superinduced by the cold and smoke.

Police reserves were summoned to control the crowd of excited tenement dwellers. In many instances the residents refused to leave the threatened buildings and had to be forced to the street. Suffering from the cold and the bitter wind that whipped the flames, the refugees were huddled in a school building and nearby stores.

A three-story fur storehouse and a two-story structure occupied by a grocer, which adjoined the factory, also were damaged badly by the fire.

evolution is about over. Woman's is only starting.

Charles E. Welch, grape juice manufacturer, ardent advocate of prohibition, has died suddenly of acute indigestion. You will now hear the ungodly, including some physicians, say that Dr. Welch would not have died had he taken the Biblical hint and "a little wine for his stomach's sake."

The greatest doctors in Europe told E. H. Harriman's relatives that he need not have died so young had he taken good light wine in moderation to help his digestion.

Other doctors said that President Harding died of indigestion because he continued to eat heartily, after swearing off completely.

But you know that Satan always finds arguments, and, anyhow, no indigestion is worse than bootleg poison that men take for indigestion now.

Fifty men and women visited Theodore Roosevelt's grave yesterday, the seventh anniversary of his death.

How quickly men fade into the background after death gets them. Dead only seven years and Roosevelt is as much a memory, a part of the past, as Harrison or Garfield.

The shipping board, recently selling some ships and burning up others, now asks permission to build two ocean liners.

Somebody will make money out of that suggestion if it goes through.

But will that somebody be the American public that will pay for the new boats?

If you were compelled to bet on that, how would you bet?

At a recent meeting of scoutmasters of the East Liverpool-Wellsville-Chester-Newell district, plans for observing the 16th anniversary of the Boy Scouts on February 7-13 were discussed. The various troops are arranging for displays and exhibitions in store windows. The civic service committee is arranging for use of the windows.

Arrangements are also being made for a scoutmasters' training course, which probably will be started during January.

The report was signed by Robert M. Atchinson of Salem, foreman of the grand jury.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Bearish traders attempting to capitalize the unexpected advance of the reserve bank rediscount rate of 4 percent found little encouragement in the action of the market today. The industrial speculative leaders were offered at prices from 1 to 4 points down at the opening, but in practically every case these proved to be the lowest prices for the movement, immediate recoveries taking place all along the line.

The California Oil stocks led a brisk rally in that section of the market, following the official announcement that distribution to stockholders of Pacific Oil would be in the form of $3 a share in cash and 2-5 share of Associated Oil company stock. Pacific moved up to above 78 and associated gained nearly two points.

The speculative district was not in the least flustrated by the advance in the bank's rediscount rate. It was generally felt that this step should have been taken long ago in order to equalize prime short term money rates with the outside market, but that the delay was occasioned by a desire to assist in stabilizing Britain's gold export situation. Bullish interests in Wall street hailed the event as an overshadowing bearish factor "out of the way."

ful, but by placing myself along with William Weaver, Walter Hill, Tom Milligan and Olen Dawson, I am glad to be a 'has-been.' This is a mark of honor."

In reviewing the work of the club during the past year, Dr. Lewis cited the fact that a room had been furnished at the City hospital; the Kiwanis magazine placed in the Carnegie, high school and Y. M. C. A. libraries; assisted in the fight against tuberculosis by purchasing health seals; contributed to the Salvation Army; contributed to new traffic lights and purchased enamel signs which are to be erected along the main highways leading into the city, all of which he classified as "tangibles."

"Among the intangibles we have brought about a better feeling of comradeship among members of the club," the retiring president said. "We have also encouraged a better understanding with the residents of the rural communities and the public at large."

In conclusion he voiced his appreciation for the support given his administration by the various committees and club members.

Mr. Hoffman expressed his thanks for the gift.

Girl, 17, Clutching Baby, Accuses Uncle In Kidnaping Story

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Clutching a five-months-old baby to her breast, Elsie Dunlevy, 17, poured into the ears of police today a semi-hysterical story of being kidnaped two years ago from her home in Manchester, Iowa, when she was 15, of being taken from place to place, always on the move for fear of being caught, beaten when she did not obey her captor's will and threatened with death if she revealed her plight.

The man she accuses is her uncle, John Dunlevy, 37-year-old mechanic, who has a wife and five children in Rochester, N. Y. He is held pending arrival of the girl's relatives from Manchester who are expected to take action against him.

The purpose is to compile data for statistical purposes only. The reports are held in confidence by the census bureau and are not to be used as a basis for taxation, for the regulation of immigration nor for any other governmental purpose.

Mr. Mabee stressed the importance of returning these reports at the earliest possible date.

Painted Mothers Scored

"If you asked me the greatest menace to the boyhood and the girlhood of East Liverpool, I would not tell you that it is the gambling dens, I would not tell you it is the booze joints, nor the movies, but I would tell you that I sincerely believe it to be the scarcity of real fathers and real mothers. Notice that I did not say wives—I said mothers. God knows we have plenty of wives and some of them change their names so often that we hardly know what to call them the next time we meet them."

The evangelist took his text from Matthew 19:22; "When the young man heard that saying he went away."

"This young man had a good home," the evangelist said "A good home has two things in it, namely, home authority and home example. Home authority and home example go together and the world at present is going to rot for the lack of both.

"One of the blackest clouds that is hanging over this nation tonight is that home authority is breaking down. Parental authority is a joke; it is reduced to a shadow. Your children are beyond your control; you have been weak. It is bad for you but worse for them.

Modesty Is Needed

"One mother who succeeded in bringing seven noble sons to manhood was asked how she did it. She replied, 'With prayer and a hickory stick.' I am satisfied that many a boy and girl could have been saved from the reformatories by the use of this splendid combination. I was in a home sometime ago where I thought they needed a hickory hanging on the wall with this motto under it: 'I need thee every hour.'

"The sad thing about this generation is that it is producing a type of women that are utterly unfit for motherhood—women who are going to give us the great sons for the next generation.

"Modesty is the crown of motherhood and most of the round-dancing, show-gadding, novel-reading, card-playing, gum-chewing, fashion-loving girls know little, if anything, about this priceless virtue."

A large delegation of members from the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church attended last night's meeting. It was necessary to extend the altar to take care of the large number of seekers who responded at the close of the service.

Evangelist Lincicome addressed a noon-day shop meeting at the R. Thomas & Sons plant today.

Services will be held again tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. W. A. Knapp Discusses "Ideal Church" In Sermon

Evangelist Warns Against Strife and Cliques at Revival Services in First M. P. Church.

"Official board night" was observed last night at the revival services in the First Methodist Protestant church. All members of the church board were present. Following the song service, Russell E. Kauffman, evangelistic singer, sang "Steal Away With Jesus Awhile."

Rev. W. A. Knapp, in charge of the meetings, spoke on "The Ideal Church," taking his subject from the Book of Acts and speaking especially of the Church of the Pentecost.

He said:

"The ideal church was not torn to pieces by strife and little cliques and divisions. There was no doubt in the minds of the first church members concerning the inspiration of the Bible, the virgin birth, atonement and resurrection. If you cannot believe the things the church stands for, you should leave the church.

"When I was an infidel during the first 20 years of my life, I believed just as the modernist believes today. Your little pigmy, puny, peanut head will never change the word of God. Peter never spent his Sunday night giving a little book review. He preached Christ and Him crucified.

"I have no use for Christian science and I believe it is of the devil. It is like the fellow who dug a hole, crawled in and pulled the hole in after him.

"Christ died for our sins and shed His blood that we might be saved. We do not serve a Jew who was killed and buried in a tomb years ago, but a living, real Christ. If you don't know Christ as a personal Savious in your life, you'll go to hell sure.

"Nowadays, church folk can cuss the same as the worldly folk. The line between the church and the world seems to have been erased.

"When people are bitter and will not speak to each other, it grieves the spirit of God and you cannot have a revival. Clean up and get everything out of the way and the fire will fall."

Tonight will be Sunday school night when all Sunday school teachers will be in attendance with their classes. Saturday night is "Shoppers' Night."

ODD FELLOWS PLAN PROGRAM

Alliance Lodgemen Will Visit Here Tomorrow.

A large delegation of Alliance Odd Fellow will come to East Liverpool tomorrow evening to take part in an entertainment to be given in the I. O. O. F. temple by "The Keystone Travelers," a group of Pennsylvanians, who are enroute to the Pacific coast in the interests of the Odd Fellows lodge.

Skin saving soap for wintry days

Nobody's foolish enough to say that soap, however good, can absolutely prevent chapping. But this is true—a pure, mild and rich lathering soap helps a lot because it can cleanse quickly and leave the skin's natural oil in. A cleansed skin with clear active pores is better able to keep itself in normal shape—so wash with the wonderful lather of Sweetheart. It's pure, mild and low priced.

Radiola-28

ART and engineering of today offer no technical advantages for attaining perfect reception which are not embodied in Radiola 28. This eight tube Super-Heterodyne stands as an unsurpassed achievement of radio engineering.

The simple lines, the admirable proportions, and the artistic finish of the cabinet convey at first glance the impression of exceptional craftsmanship.

The quality of reception confirms this impression. We hear the music of an orchestra, the voice of a singer or speaker, the brilliant performance of a piano virtuoso with beautiful tone quality and controllable volume.

This eight tube Radiola embraces not only the famous Super-Heterodyne circuit, but also includes two tuned radio frequency circuits ahead of the Super-Heterodyne circuit which greatly increase both sensitivity and selectivity. Radiola 28 therefore filters out interfering signals with an efficiency never before attained and at the same time increases the range of reception. The new powerful Radiotron UX-120 which is used in the last stage of audio amplification, enables great volume distortion when Radiola 28 is dry battery operated.

A protective tube which prevents damage to Radiotrons from accidental short circuits is a unique feature of Radiola 28.This little "electric brain" lights up and limits any excessive voltage.

As it comes from the factory Radiola 28 is equipped for dry-battery operation. But it can also be operated from a 110 volt 60 clycle alternating current house supply circuit.

The Radiola 28 is designed for reception over the broadcast frequency band 550 to 1500 kilocycles (appoximately 200 to 550 meters.)

Voltmeter jacks are provided which permit accurate adjustment to the filament terminal voltage.

HOW RADIOLA 28 MAY BE OPERATED

The necessary votages for the operation of Radiola 28 may be obtained as follows:

Complete Dry Battery Operation

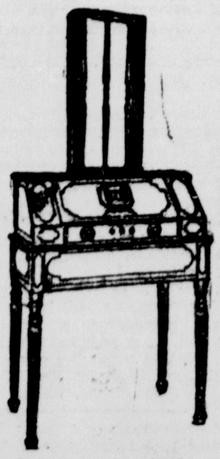

"A," "B" and "C" dry batteries used. It is for this method of operation that Radiola 28 is usually sold.

Combnation Dry Battery and 60 Cycle 110 Volt AC Lighting Circuit Operation

"A" and "C" dry batteries used — "B" voltage supplied from RCA Duo-Rectron on rectifier section of Radiola Loudspeaker 104.

Complete 60 Cycle, 110 Volt AC Lighing Circuit Operation

"A," "B" and "C" voltages suppled from rectified portion of Radiola Loudspeaker 104 thus eliminating all batteries. This requires the purchase of "AC package" Model UP-972. The conversion to AC operation can be made by us.

No New York Ship Canal

New York is disappointed in the result of a survey determining the cost of a ship canal from Lake Ontario to the Hudson. This project was regarded as a metropolitan substitute for the proposed deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea via the St. Lawrence. The figures show that for the present at least, it is hardly practicable.

The federal board of engineers making the survey find that the "All-American route" with a channel 21 feet deep would cost about $500,000,000, against $257,000,000 for the St. Lawrence route. If the New York state channel were deepened to 27 feet, as desired, it would cost more than $700,000,000.

The interest on the investment of $500,000,000 would be $5,000,000 a year more than the estimated saving by routing freight through such a waterway. So the project would need a virtual subsidy of several millions a year.

The power possibilities would be slight. The St. Lawrence project on the contrary, while costing only half as much, would be expected to pay for itself, nearly or wholly, from the water power obtained.

This is a blow to the hopes of the metropolis. It gives new impetus to the St. Lawrence plan. Most of the other states directly interested would probably be satisfied with either route, if both were feasible.

New York's loss will probably be less than her citizens anticipate. It is unlikely that the nation's chief seaport will cease to be such because of St. Lawrence competition. There is going to be plenty of commerce for both. New York should make the best of her present barge canal, which is not used to anywhere near its capacity, and deepen that channel as opportunity offers.

Factory Dentistry

Plans have recently been formulated for the establishment of a dental clinic for employes in a large factory in Ontario. The company dentist will examine the teeth of the entire staff and will given treatment or perform dental operations at cost. The clinic will be equipped with X-ray and all facilities for thorough work.

Employes will have a choice as to dentist, of course, but it is likely that most of them will choose to have their work done at the clinic both because of the moderate rates and because the work can be done on factory time.

In the long run the factory officials expect to gain by this innovation. It has been estimated that the business loses thousands of dollars a year directly through men suffering from decayed teeth, infected gums and other ailments that undermine vitality and working ability. It is economy in a factory equipped with fine machinery to see to it that its machinists also are kept strong and efficient.

It is likely that the plan will spread to other large factories and that such service will be established by groups of smaller organizations.

As time goes on, too, more industrial employers will find out that it eliminates waste and promotes efficiency to establish genuine bonds of mutual respect, understanding and co-operation between themselves and the workers in their shops and factories.

Voters And Newspapers

William Allen White remarks that people vote like mules. "But somehow they think and act almost like human beings outside of the election booth."

That is why some queer candidates get themselves elected and even re-elected. Yet in spite of that, public sentiment on the side of decency does make itself felt in vital matters, slowly but surely.

And newspapers largely make this influence effective. It has been said that any office-seeker in Chicago, Kansas City, New York or other large city, strongly opposed by leading newspapers in those cities, is sure of election. That is where the mulish voting comes in. But the day-in-and-day-out stand of those same newspapers for cleaner and wiser government is more important than the power or failure to carry elections. Voicing public opinion, educating it, leading it, as well as telling the news, are functions which newspapers perform regularly, usually with less credit than they deserve.

Fify Per-Cent Man-Power

Half the man-power in America is wasted, declares Stuart Chase, of the Labor Bureau, Inc. Here is the way he figures it out:

On any ordinary working day there are 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 adults doing nothing. Most of them are idle against their will. They are victims of the "seasonal and cyclical unemployment," or of preventable accident or ill health. Add those who are idle by choice and those who are engaged in unnecessary or socially harmful work, and it makes half the national man-power, as aforesaid.

If it is anywhere near so bad as this, here is a big and imperative job for social and economic engineering.

Man-power is fundamental; all production comes from it. When we waste man-power, we waste not only time, money and material necessaries and comforts, but life itself. Better organization of this tremendous power, which is the chief and lasting resource of the country, might mean progress, prosperity and happiness beyond anything imagined.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thoughts while strolling: Harlem on a busy morning. Ornate buildings where goats once roamed. Still a few goats left. Puppies for sale in a department store. A westerner in rawhide boots. Serene skies and sun-drenched Coogan's Bluff.

Shiftless men lazing in tin-can shanties. The poisonous froth of a city's depths. Nothing so desolate as a ball field in winter. A motor van delicatessen. Stuffed crabs, pickles and pressed meat. The Jumel mansion and sooty tugs in the Harlem river.

The elevated "Suicide Curve" at One Hundred and Tenth street. Butler Hall. Hope no one sends me any more lucky chain letters. Absurd superstition. Street merchants selling pamphlets on "Success." And peppermint lozenges. Rows of cars standing at a market. Except one that hit a post. And is sitting down.

School children. Curls. Red tams. The outrushing of happy, frosty breaths. And the higgledy-piggledy laughter of joyous hearts. Still I'll take middle age. A serious looking boy with a red nose. So trickles adventure. Wonder if youths are in love with their teachers in this age.

A few more weeks and robins will tug at worms in Central park. Whatever became of Galli-Curci? A famous throat specialist who rides a bicycle. The dignified, somberly Museum of Natural History. An evicted woman surrounded by wobbly chests, table, two chair, a rug and lamp.

West Seventy-second street now a shopping center. Street workmen warming themselves over subway ventilators. Limousine riders give them a pitying back glance but who are the happiest? The usual crowd aroundd a cracked plate window. Owners should announce how it was done.

An actress who renounced the world. The starter at the Athletic club with florid cheeks and a sort of vinous good humor. The old Savoy is now demolished. Those portico breakfasts are only memories. Hurry and change! New York's steady pace.

Along Central park west at dusk, in the chill and sometimes snow, are daily dog trotting to the Circle those athletic young collegiates in white running pants and sneakers. Their heads are back, mouth agape and gasping. We suppose 20 years from now ensconced in offices they will push a button for a red-headed office boy to bring them a drink of water across the room.

Evelyn Thaw is scheduled for Broadway a few doors from where 10 years ago she ran a tearoom. Her enterprise stranded on the White Way shoals and Evelyn was in dire financial difficulty. She was in the throes of drug addiction and her haggard appearance was far from the beauty that was hers when her pictures were emblazoned on all front pages at the Thaw trial. Today, a little matronly, the flash of her old beauty remains, and she seems restored to health. Her name is again written in fire on the Broadway heavens—even thought it is in front of a cabaret.

This story is relayed to me. A lady was mounting the public library steps. A type of professional flirt inquired: "May I help you up the steps?" There was a "No, thank you," and the lady continued. She was Annie S. Peck, who in 1908 ascended Mount Hauscaran in Peru, the highest point on this hemisphere ever attained by a North or South American.

During Irene Castle's hey-dey of dancing popularity a young man danced with her and, not catching her name, tried to teach her a new step.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Handling Claims Against Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—As a result of the increased volume of claims against the government since the World War the Court of Claims found itself swamped with work. It had been jogging along comfortably with five judges who were appointed for life. Testimony was taken by stenographers and from this the judges reached their decisions. In many cases the testimony was so voluminous that it took them some time to make up their findings of fact so that the case might be heard in the court. With the sudden influx of new cases the judges found the task too great to permit them to handle them with the desired promptness.

Last March, therefore, congress authorized the appointment of seven commissioners for terms of three years each. They are all lawyers and it is their duty to take the testimony in cases brought to the court and then to make their findings of facts so that they may be presented to the court when the case is brought before it.

The appointment of these commissioners has not only proved a great aid in expediting the handling of cases, but it has saved the government money. A large number of claims bear interest and it is therefore greatly to the advantage of the government to have them settled promptly. These are for the most part cases of refunds of taxes erroneously assessed. Interest is also allowable as part of the amounts due for just compensation for property taken.

As is well known, during the war the various executive departments were authorized to take what they needed in the way of coal, ships, or other things necessary to the successful prosecution of war. In a great many instances the owner was not paid the full value of the articles, but he was permitted to sue the government for the balance. Such cases are now reaching the court daily. The sooner they are adjudicated the greater the saving in interest to the United States.

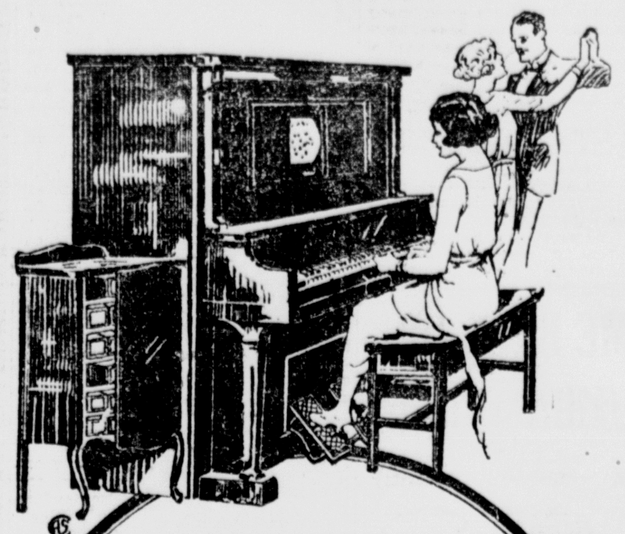

Saves Time and Money.

The new system of having trained lawyers take the testimony and present their findings to the court is also a great help to the plaintiffs. Where under the old method of procedure it was necessary for the plaintiff to come to Washington to give his testimony, the commissioner now goes to him. He is therefore spared considerable expense and time. There is now in Europe a commissioner taking testimony in what is known as the Brooks-Scanlon group which consists of eight cases involving $35,000,000.

No foreign subject can sue the United States government unless it is shown that his government allows a like privilege to the citizens of the United States. An investigation is now being made in Russia to discover whether the Soviet government provides for this. In the Civil war claims it was necessary for the plaintiff to prove his allegiance to the federal government before he might file a claim. The Court of Claims is the only court in the United States where a citizen may sue the government. If he is not satisfied with the decision of the court he may appeal to the supreme court of the United States. An unofficial survey recently made showed that out of 175 cases taken to the supreme court the decision of the court of claims was upheld in 150. Nineteen decisions were reversed, four modified, one approved in part and one case remanded.

It seems to be little known that the court of claims handles a great many tax cases—that is, those based upon internal revenue taxes such as capital stock taxes, income taxes, excess profits taxes, beverage taxes, estate taxes, sale taxes, and stamp taxes. During the fiscal year 1925 this court disposed of approximately 325 of such cases, and there are a number still pending. These are cases where the tax payer has been dissatisfied with the ruling of the board of tax appeals and has taken his case to this court.

One of the new commissioners said recently that it frequently happens that a decision of a single case in the court of claims disposes of hundreds or thousands of similar cases without prosecuting further litigation. "Such a decision was recently rendered by the court,' he added, "I do not know the entire number of cases affected by this decision, but there are 7,000 cases in the Baltimore collection district alone affected thereby."

Many Claims Pending.

The court of claims was established by Act of Congress, February 24, 1855, and was at first merely a commission whose duty it was to file facts regarding claims for the guidance and action of Congress. The Civil war resulted in a great many claims for damage to property and such things and the court was given general jurisdiction over cases involving contracts.

There are now pending in the court of claims more than 2,000 cases involving approximately $2,000,000,000. In some of these cases the interest amounts to $5,000 a day, so that for each day of delay the government is out that much. It, therefore, behooves the commissioner handling such a case to make all speed possible in collecting the testimony and preparing his findings so that adjudication may be rendered as quickly as possible. Since the seven commissioners have taken office the length of time between the date of filing suit and that of rendering a decision has been greatly reduced.

An interesting anecdote is told of a former chief justic of the court. It appears that for a great many years there was pending in the court the case of George V, King of England vs United States. There is also in Washington a firm of lawyers named King who frequently appear before this court. One day the chief justice, coming across this case, absent-mindedly called for "the George V. King case." After that the case was known to all employees of the court by that name.

The sovereign power of a state can not sue the United States government, so that the case above referred to, being really that of a Canadian railroad against this government, was settled in some other fashion. The title of the railroad company was vested in the Crown of England and this was the reason the suit was filed in the name of George V.

Of the cases now pending the amounts involved range from $14, a refund of income tax, to $122,250,000 claimed for the infringment of patents on projectiles and shells.

The building used by the court of claims is in itself of interest. It was the original Corcoran Art Gallery and was connected with the old Corcoran residence. On the stairways and on the cornices over the doorways there is the initial "C." It is said that by many this is thought to indicate the court of claims, but it really stands for "Corcoran." The room in which the judges hold court is of medium size with high ceilings. In it are benches which were used in the original house of representatives. Their style and manner of arrangement suggested to a visitor the other day a Presbyterian church. The court proceedings, however, probably bear no resemblance to a service in a church of this denomination.

Baby's face and back covered with eczema

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5:—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep Resinol in my home!" (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

Suggests Amicable Settlement of New Water System Contract

Contractor Hinaman and Attorney Ordered by Solons to Submit Statements in Writing Within 10 days.

Proposing that Contractor A. W. Hinaman "pocket" his own losses incurred during the construction of the city's new gravity water system in Little Yellow Creek, in return for which the municipality would lift penalties for non-completion of the job within the time limit specified in the contracts, Attorney G. R. Robinson, of Pittsburgh, representing the contractor, last night suggested an amicable settlement of the contract between Hinaman and the city.

The proposal was broached at an adjourned meeting of city solons, called especially for the purpose of discussing the water contract, and followed a review by Attorney Robinson of the outstanding steps in the progress of the contractor in the construction of the reservoir, in which he enumerated the unexpected delays that were encountered.

As a result, City Solicitor S. C. Luccock asked that the Pittsburgh attorney submit his statement again on paper, in order that council members could read and see each step as verbally outlined last night. A 10 days' time limit was set.

Attorney Robinson termed the municipal reservoir an excellent piece of work and a structure that will last for ages with a certain amount of attention. He asserted that Contractor Hinaman will lose money on the deal, in any event.

"If Mr. Hinaman were to bid again, or if any contractor were to bid on the job," said Attorney Robinson, "with a full knowledge of conditions as they were found to be, he would not ask less than $150,000 instead of the $128,528 estimate under which the contract was originally let.

Enumerating some of the difficulties with which Hineman was beset, Attorney Robinson first pointed to the injunction which temporarily stopped progress during the first year, obtained by the city solicitor.

He also explained that original plans for the construction of the trench for the core wall had to be changed, Hinaman had also to take over the laying of the pipe line; he also ran into extraordinary troubles around the spillway on account of the unexpected quantity of rock formation, notably great bowlders, which materially slackened steam shovel operations. He explained that engineers had anticipated the removal of approximately 161 cubic yards of rock formation. Instead, the contractor was forced to excavate 3,867 cubic yards. Earth excavation, he said, was substantially increased, as well as rip-rap work.

Referring to the liquidated damages clause in the contract, the Pittsburgh lawyer asserted that penalties should not be enforced in this instance because of the difficulties under which the contract was completed. "We feel that if we're willing to wave the losses on our side, in return for the experience we've obtained," said Attorney Robinson, "the city should lift the penalties."

Accompanied by Engineer Magill, city council, together with Attorney S. C. Luccock and other city officials, yesterday afternoon inspected the reservoir.

FRAME ORDINANCE FOR JANITOR JOB

The city hall's new janitor — whoever he will be—will be subject to duties that will be outlined by council in a new ordinance which is now under consideration.

An ordinance fixing the salary of the job, introduced to the solons last night, was referred back to the ordinance committee and Solicitor Luccock so that the amount of the salary and the duties of the job could be inserted.

Council voted to reduce the assessment on the J. B. Orr property in Wells avenue to $150, and to cut the $748 assessment on the Louis Orr property in half. Solons Peters and Nicholson voted against the latter motion. Both motions, however, carried.

Councilman John Riel was absent when the vote was taken, having been summoned from the meeting by a telephone message in which he was informed of the serious illness of his father.

DENIES STONE CASE REMARKS

Ex-Solicitor Says City Misunderstood Statement.

George D. Ingram, ex-city solicitor, in a statement made public today, denies the suggestion, purporting to come from him, and announced in council chamber last Tuesday by Solicitor S. C. Luccock at the request of Mayor W. L. Fogo, that "the case of Jesse W. Stone against the city ought to be paid and could not be won."

The Stone case Tuesday was ordered settled by council. Mayor Fogo, at the time, asked Solicitor Luccock if the ex-solicitor had not advanced the opinion that the case should be adjusted by the city. Solicitor Luccock asserted that "that was my understanding."

Mr. Ingram says:

"If Mr. Luccock, the city solicitor, so stated at the council meeting, he surely misunderstood me as I made no such statement.

"I have, during my entire two years fought the case in every way, and felt it was an outrage on the city and ought not to be paid if it could be prevented. I took it to the court of appeals and this court reversed it in part, and I, as my last official act, filed the motion in the supreme court of Ohio asking for a further review, hoping this would go into the matter and decide it on its merits. The cost of such a motion is two dollars and this I deposited, and on this motion the court would pass on the case at least in part. Nobody knows what the court might do. I still feel the city had a chance to win.

"I make no complaint about what Mr. Luccock does with this or any other case, but I do not want to be placed in a false light before the public."

Plan Construction Of Airship Larger Than Shenandoah

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Plans to build an all-metal dirigible type airship two and one-half times the size of the Shenandoah were announced by Carl F. Fritsche, general manager of the Aircraft Development Corporation of Detroit. The ship will contain 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Marty McManus Deal Declared Off; Huggins Refuses to Include Hoyt

Reliable Tip, Persists, However, That Both are for Sale if Respective Clubs Can Get Their Prices

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The Marty McManus deal, which has enjoyed more revivals than a Billy Sunday tour, died another lingering death today when the good word went forth that the New York Yankees had decided the young man was to be had only at a prohibitive price. They were willing to give one infielder, slightly used, and a pitcher of merely nominal value, in exchange for the St. Louis second baseman, but declined to be a party to the suggestion htat Waite Hoyt be included in the transaction.

All bets, therefore, have been declared off, according to present advice, in spite of the recent report that the Washington Senators were to be inveigled into the deal as a comprorise measure. This move, subseqeuntly denied by all parties concerned, was said to involve the transfer of Hoyt to Washington for Tom Zachary and Spencer Adams and the palming off of this pair on St. Louis for McManus.

As far as the writer's information is concerned, St. Louis could deny that one without looking.

Yet a reliable tip has persisted that the Browns would be pleased to part with McManus if they could get their price in players on the hoof. The Yanks feel the same way about Hoyt. Both are believed to have outlasted their welcome.

McManus is alleged to have been one of the leaders in a factional fight that developed among the members of the Browns after they failed to win the pennant in 1922. He is said to have been a rabid supporter of Lee Fohl, then manager of the club, who since has been eased gently but firmly out. Urban Shocker, another Fohl man, was traded to the Yanks with all due haste, leaving McManus to hold the bag.

The latter is declared to have been full of bricks, addressed to George Sisler. Apparanetly he has never forgiven himself. He has two alternatives, namely, to try another punch or another club. Our Mr. Huggins is understood to favor the latter method, merely as a matter of personal preference.

When Huggins and Sisler stopped whispering at the recent baseball meetings, McManus had been offered to the Yankees for Aaron Ward and Hoyt. The Yanks had countered by mentioning Ward and Bob Shawkey.

As for the Senators' alleged entry into the deliberations, it probably has no basis of fact. If the Browns wanted Zachary and Adams, they could get them directly from Washington for Joe Bush without so much as mentioning McManus' name.

WALKER BEFORE BOXING RULERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Accompanied by Tex Rickard, Jack Kearns, and his usual retinue, Mickey Walker, welterweight champion was scheduled to attempt to convince the state Athletic commission today that it made a mistake when it declared him "unavailable" for his scheduled title bout with Tommy Milligan, of England, on January 22.

Walker will submit himself to a physical examination in the hope of proving that his injured toe, which prevented a bout with Milligan for the Christmas Fund, has healed completely.

Rickard was to be present to point out to the board that, since he personally lost $11,000 on the Christmas fund bouts, he should be given a chance to get even. Billy Ames, manager of Milligan, will add the claim that a postponement will be an injustice to the Englishman, who traveled four thousand miles for the bout.

SWIMMERS BREAK THREE RECORDS

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Johnny Weismuller, Arne Borg and Ethel Lackie, holders of world swimming records, have done it again.

Weismuller today owns a brand new record for the 220 yards, after swimming that distance in 2:10 2-5, beating his own record of 2:14. Borg broke Weismuller's 440-yard record and the new time stands at 4:47 1-5. Miss Lackie broke her own record of 1:03 1-5 for the 100-yard sprint by doing it in 1:02 4-5.

These new records were hung up last night at the Illinois Athletic club open swimming meet here. All three are members of the I. A. C.

Demands Miss Wills First be Forced to Play Second Raters

PARIS, Jan. 8.—Helen Wills, American tennis star, who is now enroute to France to compete in Riviera tournaments, will have to defeat all of the second rate French women tennis players before she can meet Mlle. Lenglen, if the newspaper L'Information has its way.

L'Information today carried an editorial stating that the French boxer, Marcart, is on his way back to Paris on the same boat as Miss Wills, after having been unable to secure bouts in the United States with anything but second-raters. It suggests that Mascart has been mistreated in America and demands that Miss Wills be forced to play with second string players.

Wreck Sporting Goods Store in Los Angeles To Get Grange Tickets

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—The desire of thousands to see "Red" Grange in action here Jan. 16, temporarily wrecked the business of a local sporting goods store.

Announcement that tickets for the game between Grange's Chicago Bears and a local aggergation of stars were on sale, brought a milling mob two blocks long and four deep several hours after the store opened for business today.

In an hour and a half 30,000 tickets had been sold for the game and the crowd was still growing.

Regular cuotomers were unable to gain admission to the sporting department and the management literally threw up its hands in despair and locked the doors.

Not a single sale with the exception of tickets on which the store made no profit was made during the day.

More than 20 police had to disperse the crowd after the store's doors were closed.

POWERS PLAY MILLER BROS.

Power passers defeated the Triangles last night, 38 to 5, on the M. E. court, recording their ninth victory in 10 starts this season.

The Powers are scheduled to play the strong Miller Brothers quint, of Columbiana, tonight on the M. E. court and are expecting a stiff tussle with the former high school and college stars. The game will start at 8:15.

The Columbiana team's roster includes Howe, Robinson, Hawkins and Graham, forwards; Thomas, center; McMasters, Anderson and Kyser, guards.

Manager Geren of the Powers will have on hand Dickey, Cunningham and Ashbaugh as forwards; Jester and Bucher as centers; Mensforth, Rockhold, Cochran and Stuart as guards.

E. Palestine Cagers Here In First Tilt

Return of Orndorff to North Countians' Lineup Gives Visitors Veteran Squad; Hamilton and Wilson at Forwards for Locals; County Seat Outfit Here Tomorrow.

EAST PALESTINE tonight and Lisbon tomorrow night. This is the court assignment for East Liverpool high school passers for the week-end, their first since the holidays, and their first since the defeats at the hands of Franklin and Marshall and the Alumni, two aggregations that would win 99 times out of 100 from any ordinary high school outfit.

Lorah's five will be playing its first county game tonight, and a similar situation exists for the East Palestine team.

The Brown and White has been steadily at work since the holidays and is in excellent condition for a hard struggle with the locals. It is practically a veteran team, with four of last year's five remaining. In addition, Center Orndorff, who played two years ago, but who was out last season as a result of a physician's orders, has returned to the fold and adds considerable strength to East Palestine's offensive movements.

Both the girls' and the boys' teams will be in action. Mrs. Hazel Mast, coach of the local sextet, will use practically the same line-up that started against the Alumni, with Corns, Gilliland and Imbrie on the forwards, and Waggle, Barnhart and Hutson or Wilson on the guards.

Coach Lorah will probably start Jimmy Hamilton at a forward tonight, along with Wilson; Bough at center, and Pusey and Paul English at the guards.

His reserve forces will be strong, with Deidrick and Elmer English in line for use at forwards and Allison at a guard.

Every effort will be made to start the preliminary tilt between the girls tonight at 7:15, Athletic Director Boone announced today, and the main go at 8:15.

A fast engagement is anticipated, with Bill Watkins refereeing.

Utah Nuts Reforesting Denuded Persian Lands

Ogden, Utah.—Twenty-five cents worth of pine nuts purchased three years ago from a local fruit store are helping reforest Persia.

Three years ago, H. Rieben, at Tabriz, wrote F. S. Baker, of the forest service headquarters, asking for tree seeds. He was experimenting to find a species adapted for Persia.

Baker had no seed at hand, but he went to a neighboring fruit store and bought 25 cents' worth of pine nuts, sent them to Rieben and forgot the matter.

Recently, he received another letter from Rieben reporting that the seed had thrived and asking more of the same variety.

Mr. Baker has invested another 25 cents and the fruit store product is on its way to Tabriz.

FRENCH PLAN TRIP TO POLE BY NEW YORK

Hydroplane With Mystery Motor to Start in April.

TRACTOR SLEDGES

Fliers Will Carry Wireless Outfit to Call for Relief.

PARIS.—By hydroplane from the North Pole to Paris by way of Chicago and New York is the proposed itinerary of the French Mission to the North Pole, as outlined by Lieutenant Sales of the French navy, chief of the expedition.

Six amphibious motor sledges, the technicalities of which are being carefully kept secret, will play an important part in the proposed expedition which is to be one of scientific study and is due to leave Calais in April.

The amphibious sled is an invention of a Norwegian, Capt. Otto Sverdrup, who was commander of the steam Fram that was imprisoned in Arctic ice for three years. Captain Sverdrup will accompany the expedition in charge of his sledges. Although the secret of the sledges is being guarded it is believed that they are a sort of caterpillar tractor fitted with spikes for ice travel and paddles for water navigation.

Motors Are Powerful.

Five of the "mystery motors" will be heavy duty machines capable of carrying a load of four or five tons. On two of them will be loaded the two hydroplanes, which will be entirely assembled with the exception of the wings. Three other motor sledges will carry food, gasoline, oil and supplies as well as the sixteen men who make up the expedition. The sixth sledge will be lighter than its brothers but much faster and will be used as a scout, always in the lead to guide the way.

The expedition, which under the auspices of the French navy and the ministry of public instruction, is estimated by Lt. Sales to cost three million francs and plans to leave Calais the last of April, 1926. The departure from Calais will be made by steamer to Spitzbergen, rechristened Svalbard. From King's Bay, Svalbard, the Mission intends to embark aboard their six ambhibious machines for the North Pole.

"We hope to reach the Pole in about ten days," says Lt. Sales, "as Capt. Sverdrup assures me that his sledges will make eighteen miles an hour on the ice. I am going to the Gulf of Findland with Capt. Sverdrup next month to try out his invention.

"Our intention is to cross the Pole and establish a camp some fifty miles east of it betwen the Pole and Alaska. We expect to remain at this base some fifteen or twenty days, during which time the hydroplanes will be mounted and favorable weather conditions awaited."

Equipped With Wireless.

As both planes and the sledges will be equipped with wireless the French government has asked the government of the Soviets to emit meterological reports from their two stations at Dickson and Sredne-Kolymsk in Siberia, for the guidance of the expedition.

"As soon as weather conditions are favorable, continued Lt. Sales, "we will hop off for Point Barrow, Alaska, a distance of nearly 2,000 kilometers, which we hope to make in ten hours' flying. The sledges will continue on with ten men, as six men will leave aboard the planes; a pilot and navigator in each plane as well as a wireless operator in one and a mechanic in the other."

In case the planes are forced to land before reaching Point Barrow they will wireless to the sledges, who in turn will rush to the rescue. The planes wil carry food supply for two months for the crew of three men.

"At Point Barrow," says Lt. Sales, "we have arranged for a gasoline supply at 53 cents a gallon f. o. b. Nome. From Point Barrow we intend to fly to the mouth of the McKenzie river, follow the river to Winnipeg, from Winnipeg to Chicago, and from Chicago to New York.

"As we expect to leace Point Barrow about July 1 we should arrive in New York about August 1. It is about 6,000 kilometers and I hope we can make it in ten hops of 600 kilometers a hop. Once in New York we will detach the wings and load the planes aboard a steamer for Havre. In Havre we will assemble the planes and fly to Paris, alighting on the Seine, home again."

Grateful for U. S. Aid.

Lt. Sales expressed his appreciation for the aid given him by Majors Arnold and Hunsley of the United States Air Forces who have given the lieutenant the benefit of their experience in flying from Mitchell Field to Alaska. Lt. Sales says he intends to follow almost the same route.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound"

Breaks a Cold Right Up

Take two tablets every three hours until three doses are taken. The first dose always gives relief. The second and third doses completely break up the cold. Pleasant and safe to take. Contains no quinine or opiates. Millions use "Pape's Cold Compound." Price, thirty-five cents. Druggists guarantee it.

"White Desert," at American Theatre, Is Great Picture

A lasting tribute to the rugged terrifying beauty of Colorado, the like of which has never been presented on the stage or screen before,a gripping drama that has all the essentials of realism, are the contributing factors that make "The White Desert," which opened at the American theatre last night, a truly great picture.

The production was filmed at the top of the Continental Divide and is a monument to the ability of Reginald Barker, who directed the picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. In "The Great Divide' Barker gave the motion picture world a fine picture. In "The White Desert" he has contributed a great one.

The story has for its basis the hazards facing a railroad company who are building a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. An avalanche caused by heavy blasting in the tunnel sweeps down over the construction camp and carries away many of the workmen and destroys the camp.

Faced With Starvation.

The survivors are faced with starvation. The storehouse has been swept away and the telegraph lines are down cutting off all communication. A blizzard each hour brings near the threat of complete isolation.

The battle with the elements, which these hardy men of the outdoors wage, from the background for great dramatic moments. The wind-worn peaks and great stretches of snow-swept mountains have been photographed in all their astounding beauty. Realism stalks through the picture. It moves with such terrific force as to literally beat the viewer into admiration.

Every member of the cast should be credited with a fine performance. Claire Windsor was never more winsome in this role which marks one of her finest achievements on the screen. As Robinette she has contributed a characterization that is unequalled by her mony other successes.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

FORTY-THREE.

Mrs. Brent Daly arose peevishly when the persistent buzzing of the telephone by the satin-faced chaise lounge, shattered her afternoon nap. She was angry because there was no maid to attend her, despite the fact she had expressly given Louise permission to be absent that afternoon and evening.

"Yes?" she began unwillingly.

"Nell! How are you?"

The voice sounded vaguely familiar. "Ver ywell, but who is this?"

"Can't you guess?"

"I'm afraid I cannot." Persons who expected her to guess things always exasperated Mrs. Daly.

"It's Mary—Mary Harwood."

"Oh . . . Mary!" Her surprise was evident. "How are you?" What could her former sister-in law want?

"Why haven't you been to see me?"

"Why . . . I've been intending to, but ——."

"Yes, I know. Busy as always . . . Are you having any one in for tea this afternoon?"

"No, that is—I'm alone. . . Can you stop in for a cup of tea?"

"If I won't be ——."

"No, no. I was going to have—Well, come about five." She was so disturbed that she couldn't think, and turned away from the phone puzzled. What did Mary want? Was this a friendly call? She had her doubts. Mary had never cared much about her. She was Noble Harwood's sister; how could Mary overlook that now?

Mrs. Daly got up languidly and looked around for something to wear. Four o'clock. She wondered if there were any cakes to serve with the tea. She would have to serve it herself. She disliked the idea of having to receive Mary Harwood alone. . . Why was Mary coming anyway? Was trouble impending?

She greeted her former sister-in-law at the entrance portal wearing a black velvet frock with pipings of gold-thread and yellow lace ruffles, a dress she had not been intending to wear until the Bridge Circle met and gave her an opportunity to reveal it. It was a Callot model, and she was the only member of the Bridge Circle who ever paraded Parisian importations except possibly on very special occasions. Mrs. Brent Daly got considerable satisfaction out of every new gown or frock or coat.

They kissed like affectionate sisters. "Nell, it has been so long since I've seen you."

"Yes, it has been a long time." She led the way to her sun parlor.

"I've been expecting you to come and see me, or I would have phoned you sooner," Mary Harwood said, sitting down.

"I've been intending every day —."

It was just a friendly call. Nell decided. Mary was reconciled to the loss of Noble. Well, that was the way to look at it. She wondered if another man had been the cause of this unexpected sensibleness about the matter. Mary Harwood in another romance? It sounded absurd, but ——."

"I'm sure you have some simply wonderful things to tell about your trip," she suggested. She carefully noted Mary's chic frock of beige crepe georgette, piped with darker crepe de chine, a creation intended for a more slender woman. She was glad that Mary, in her quest for youthful appearance, hadn't resorted to an extreme bob. Mary's nose was too severe to be made conspicuous.

"Of course I enjoyed it immensely," the first Mrs. Harwood replied, "but there is only one place dear to my heart."

"I never knew before that you cared so much for Central City," Mrs. Daly observed, perhaps drily. She decided that Mary would look better if she used less rouge. Her sister-in-law certainly seemed to have deteriorated in her absence.

"Something rather interesting happened while I was away," Mrs. Harwood observed.

"I suppose you mean ——?" She didn't like the light in her visitor's eyes. It gave her the idea that Mary was playing again.

"Yes, Noble's wedding. I imagine it had been in his mind quite some time?"

"I really couldn't say."

"I suppose he had her all picked out before ——."

"I know you don't believe that, Mary."

Mrs. Harwood shifted her position in her chair, annoyed. "Naturally YOU don't think so."

Nell Daly did not meditate her reply: "I hope, Mary, that we can be friends."

The other woman regarded her intently for a moment. "I should hate you, but I don't."

Mrs. Daly got up and came to sit down by her former sister-in-law. "You're looking at it in the only sensible way," she said, taking the visitor's hand comfortingly.

"Sensible?" There was a touch of bitterness in her tone.

"What's done can't be undone," Mrs. Daly followed up.

"Don't you believe it!" Mrs. Harwood seemed suddenly to have come to life. "What is stolen can be stolen back. If that little wench thinks she can keep Noble, she's ——."

"Why, Mary!"

Los Angeles Is Becoming Silk Producing Locality

Two Hundred and Twenty Thousand Mulberry Trees Laid Out and Buildings for Worm Culture are Erected.

LOS ANGLES—This city, the largest user of silk in America, is to become a silk-producing locality.

In 1854 an attempt was made in California by a farmer, who had come overland from New Jersey, to raise raw silk. Through his lack of knowledge of silk worm culture, the venture failed.

This year, a closed corporation largely financed by capital furnished bankers in San Diego county, have successfully embarked on a raw silk venture in Escondido Valley with an outlay of 220,000 mulberry trees and buildings for worm culture, costing $300,000.

Complete Plant Opened.

Rallying to the support of the first organized effort to produce raw silk on the continent, David H. Young, for more than 30 years identified with the silk industry in Paterson, N. J., has opened a spinning and weaving mill at Hermosa Beach, which is the first complete plant, including its dyeing and finishing unit, to be established in the west.

It is these two allied industries which will shortly attract nation-wide attention toward the Pacific coast, according to a prediction made here a cording to a prediction made here a few days ago by E. E. Bradley, director of the Silk Association of America, and said to be the foremost figure identified with the industry. Bradley passed through here on a visit from New York.

The southwest and particularly that section along the Pacific coast, is the largest silk-consuming market on the continent, according to Bradley, and with steps made toward establishing branches of the industry in the center of the market, eastern weaving mills will soon be giving the move serious attention.

In the 10-year period beginning with 1915, approximately 2,500,000 bales of raw silk invoiced at $2,000,000,000, has been handled through Pacific ports, according to Young, of the Hermosa Beach mill. With the added costs of manufacturing, cutting and transportation costs, silk goods valued at $500,000,000 have been disposed of in Los Angeles alone in that period, while goods worth $75,000,000 more in the shape of finished silks passed through Pacific ports and were sold to the Orient.

Big Market on Coast.

With the year nearing end, it is estimated that California and its trade territory in the Pacific states, has consumed $75,000,000 worth of finished silks in 1925, manufactured from the raw product which first entered the continent on the western seaboard.

According to Young's survey of the silk field, the present raw silk enterprise at Escondido can supply a domestic market with 50,000,000 pounds annaully when it is well under way, while the textile branch of the industry has a trade consuming territory worth nearly $100,000,000 annually and Oriental purchases amounting to $12,000,000 a year.

England Raising Race of Combative Giantesses

London.—England is raising a race of combative giantesses, Dr. Leonard Williams, an internationally known medical specialist, asserted recently. He said it has become the fashion to teach, induce and even compel girls to play games which were originally invented for big boys and young men.

"In teaching and making girls play these games," he claimed, "you develop the combative instinct and the combative muscles. In this way you are raising a race of giantesses who are going to have the combative disposition. Another effect of this ultra-athleticism among girls of today is to produce a creature who has the male rather than the female characteristics."

Buddhist Priest Hit By Baseball, Seeks Damages in Japan

NAGOKA, Japan. — Baseball magnates in Japan, like their brethern in America, have their troubles.

For instance, Kenzo Kobayashi, who owns the Sawamasa team here, is being sued for damages because an errant foul ball smote a spectator on the forehead. The spectator is Rev. Bun-o Kimura, a Buddhist priest.

"It is more a moral than a legal affair with me," the priest declared in explaining his spit. "The baseball folks went a bit too far. They not only refused to express regret, but they claimed that I was trespassing because I was inside the enclosure. That is more than anyone with common sense could tolerate."

Suspension of fox hunting recently in several districts of England resulted in numerous raids by foxes on poultry farms.

Valuable Army Records Are Failing to Pieces

Washington.—Invaluable records of the War department, covering the vital period in American history from the War of 1812 to the World war are rotting and falling to pieces as a result of inefficient methods of caring for them, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, adjutant-general of the army, told Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis in his annual report.

"Many of the original muster rolls have become almost illegible in places as the result of years of constant handling and some have been patched up with tracing cloth in order to keep them from falling apart," Davis said. "Their gradual disintegration will, of course, continue until they shall have literally fallen to pieces, unless the constant handling to which they have been subjected can be obviated."

WOOL GROWERS TO HOLD MEET

Columbiana County to be Represented at Convention.

The annual meeting of the Ohio Wool Growers' association will meet in Columbus Friday of next week. Delegates representing the Columbiana County Wool Growers' association will be Charles W. Heim of East Rochester and Clark Thompson of St. Clair township. At this meeting it will be explained that through the cooperative pool the organization through its Columbus office during the last year handled 4,552,852 pounds of wool, and all by consignment to the cooperative pool.

Of the volume consigned 406,853 pounds were received from Indiana shippers; 342,210 pounds came from Michigan growers and 45,000 pounds were received from Pennsylvania growers, the latter being consigned to the Horkheimer co-operative werehouse at Wheeling, W. Va., Only about 1,200,000 pounds of this volume of wool remain to be sold during the second period. The wool sent to the pool last year was from 10,200 growers, which is almost 1,000 more shippers than were recorded for 1924.

The Columbus meeting, in addition to including the annual election of officers will take the form of an educational gathering. It is arranged to have eastern manufacturers at this meeting to lead in a study of wool uses and requirements.

The Columbiana county delegates will make a report of the Columbus session to the County Wool Growers' association at its next meeting to be held at the Farm bureau office in Lisbon, the date for which is to be selected later.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

O'Brien Boy Thin and Pale

In a Little Over Two Months Gained Eleven Pounds

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compounds Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Carnahan's or Mathew's Medicine store or any druggist in America. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

Radio Solved In India Nearly 1,000 Years Ago, Is Claim

Records in Palmyra Leaves Treat of Wireless, Cotton, Embalming and Geology.

LONDON.—Many complex scientific problems, including that of wireless telegraphy, had been solved in India nearly a thousand years ago, according to ancient books and manuscripts which have just come to light in Calcutta.

These records, the property of Dr. Syed Mohammed Kassim, constitute the rarest and most valuable library in India, according to information reaching London.

The library contains numerous manuscripts of palmyra leaves, dealing with religion, philosophy, arts, science, history, medicine, astrology, palmistry and many other subjects. It is believed to have had its origin long before the Bijapur kingdom in India.

Many Subjects Treated.

Among the subjects treated are:

Embalming—The process described is so elaborate and of such a similar character that there is reason to believe that the ancient Egyptians learned this art from the Indians.

Wireless Telegraphy—It is said that communication can be carried from one place to another thousands of miles away by means of two stone plates, specially constructed.

Cotton growing—Processes are described by means of which it is possible to grow cotton of any color desired.

Geology—Operations are explained by means of which it is possible to know what things are hidden below the surface of the earth, so that the location underground of such things as precious metals, hidden treasure, buried cities, etc., can be easily ascertained.

Glass—Processes are given to prepare a kind of glass, which, when held over the surface of the sea, will clearly show all its contents at the bottom.

Snow fall—Ways are shown to cause snow fall in hot countries and prevent its fall in cold regions.

Methods are also set forth: to level big mountains; to keep water hot continuously for thousands of years, and to convert base metals into gold and silver.

Many tourists from America have inspected this famous library and there is a possibility that it will be purchased for removal to the United States. To prevent the removal of the manuscripts from India, efforts are being made at Calcutta to raise a fund to purchase the records and place them in a museum.

Idolizing of Youth Deplored by Priest In Kiwanis Address

AKRON, O.—Humanity is whirling to destruction in the glorification of youth, pleasure and excitement.

That is the picture drawn by the Rev. Father O'Keefe, of St. Mary's church, speaking before the Kiwanis club.

"We have gone too far in idolizing youth," Father O'Keefe declared. He pointed out that desire to be young and live the life of flaming youth was destroying the principles of Christianity. The uncontrollable urge to idolize young life is stripping mankind of all veneration for the aged, making young men and women precocious and relegating the middle aged individual to obscurity and losing to the world the benefit of wisdom and precept radiated by respectful maturity.

Us Men Can Learn From Women!

When you stop and think of it, there's no GOOD reason why a MAN shouldn't be just as careful of his skin as a WOMAN! Isn't that reasonable? Hundreds of women here in Liverpool make a HABIT of using Carnahan's Healing Balm both summer and winter. Are their skins more valuable than ours? And the price is 25c.

So bring in your thirst—we have the prescription.

Prices Raised!

Hot Water Bottles—in fact, all sorts of rubber goods have suffered a RISE in price! There has been no change in QUALITY in the ones we carry, however. Prices $1, $2, $3 and $4. Make the old one you have last as long as possible, but if you need one, we have them.

Knives!

KNIVES—Long Knives, Short Knives, Pocket Knives, Hunting Knives. We bought a sample line from a cutlery house and we certainly have quite a variety of knives on display in our center window at our Sixth street store, and they are all priced exceptionally low.

RENT RESOLUTIONS!

How are the new, clean, bright resolutions holding up? Do they show signs of wear yet or are they commencing to bend a bit? Are you sorry you didn't make some OTHER one instead of the one you DID make?

Personally we admire a person who makes a Resolution. We look on them a great deal like Mark Twain looked on boils. A friend of his had a boil on his neck and was complaining about the discomfort of boils in general but PARTICULARLY boils that grew on one's neck. Mark agreed with him and stated firmly that if he HAD to have a boil he'd prefer to have it on his mother-in-law!

And that's about US on the Resolution uestion.

So in case YOUR Resolution is getting frayed along the edges—why, just bring it in and we'll do all WE can to straighten it up for you.

Shorty Says:

Why Anyone should mess around patching up a resolution when it's so blamed easy to make ANOTHER one has always been apple sauce to ME! I've got a couple trunks full of mity fine resolutions, many of them practically new and unused. I've got 205 "SHOP HERE FIRST" (meaning drug stores) resolutions, which Jack wants me to give to that many local shoppers! This particular resolution fits mity neat on Anyone and is guaranteed to show the owner enormous dividends in Dollars and Contentment. Get one before they're all gone. It's a 1926 model, too!

Combs!

At no time in your life will you need a comb more than you will during 1926! Authorities agree on this. Our bob, pompadour, Grecian and Ace Combs are not only low priced at this time but are extraordinarily good to look upon. Assorted prices.

Cash Prize Given!

We have figgered out 28 uses for an Eveready Flash Light. To all those who bring in an ADDITIONAL USE that WE have NOT thought of, we will give one 10c piece FREE!

Our Poor, Poor Beauties!

Not content with the liberal favors conferred on them by generous Nature, they cluster about our Toiletries Counter with eager eye and happy smiles striving, striving and striving not only to KEEP their beauty but to IMPROVE that which they already have! An inspiring scene! And our lines of such things are COMPLETE!

The Doctor's Orders!

No matter how large and important our volume of GENERAL business grows, the IMPORTANT thing down deep in our hearts is the growth of our PRESCRIPTION Department. A Druggist's respect for a carefully compounded list o medicines is the really FINE thing about the business of drug storing.

Most Children Have Rickets, Survey Shows

Washington.—Secretary of Labor Davis reports that a preliminary statement of the first 18 months' work in the study of a practical method of community control of rickets conducted by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor indicates that 90 per cent of infants develop rickets in its mildest form during the early months of life.

The statement, contained in Secretary Davis' annual report, says: "This has been definitely demonstrated in the course of the study by X-ray photographs of the infants' bones taken at monthly intervals. If this mild form of rickets does not progress to a more severe degree, it has no apparent effect on the infant's general health.

"The investigation has shown that under the influence of cod liver oil and direct sunlight this mild degree of rickets can be completely controlled. Without the use of these measures, rickets will advance to a moderate or marked degree of severity in approximately 25 per cent of the children with resulting deformities and lowered resistance to infection."

Conditions Reversed.

ST. PAUL.—All the Europeans don't stay home to take in American dollars during the summer. Reversing the usual trend, European students now are flocking to America for travel-study and observation, said Dr. Towne Nylander, Princeton professor. Seven hundred European students will visit the Twin Cities next summer, he said here.
